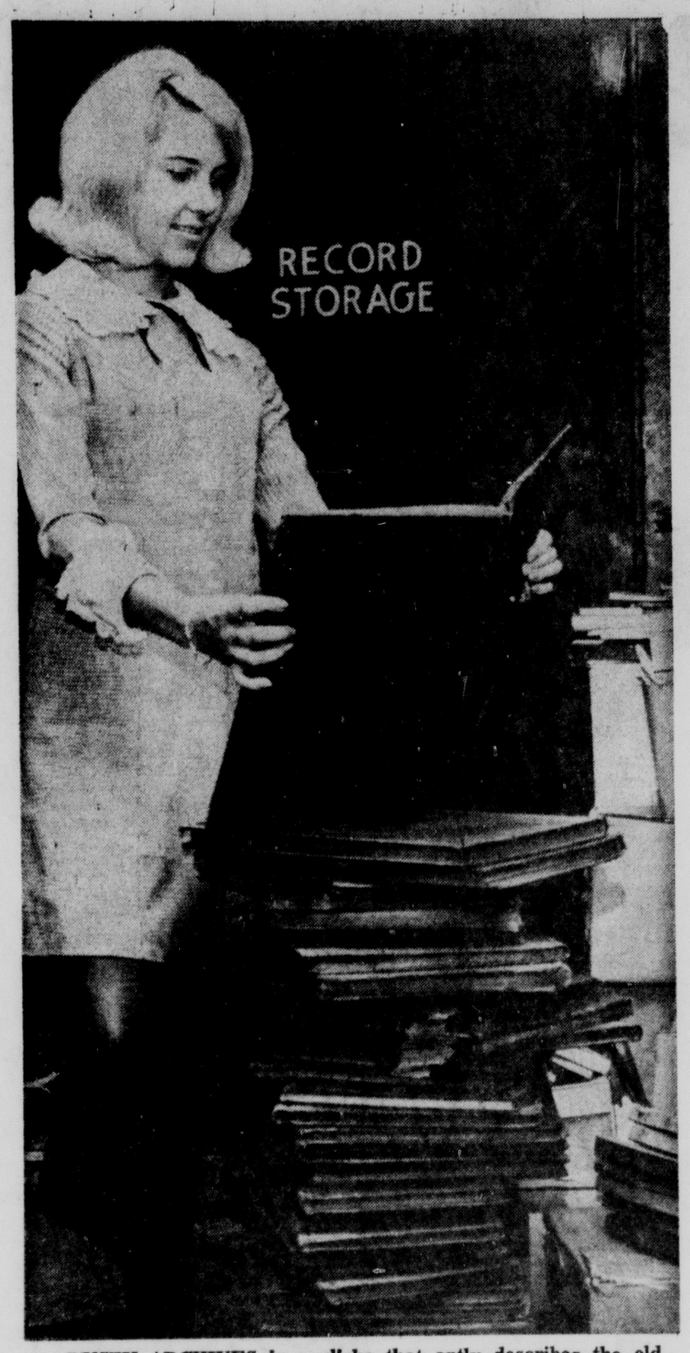
Dusty Old Ledgers

'Good Old Days'



DUSTY ARCHIVES is a cliche that aptly describes the old ledgers and other records in dead storage at City Hall, here being examined by Miss Jane Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snow of Wyoming Ave., a sophomore at the Kent State Academic Center. Some of the ledgers are hand-written day-to-day records maintained by former safety-service directors nearly a half century ago.

By ROBERT POPP

Ah, those were the days, when a truck driver made $4.50 and a laborer was not far behind at $4.27.

Palmy days? Well hardly! Those were the daily rates the city paid its street department employes in 1932 at the depths of the depression.

Such facts and many more are all written laboriously by hand in 42 old ledgers lying on the floor in a basement corridor at City Hall. Stored for many years in various parts of the building, they've been kept most recently in a little cubicle used as a janitors' "office" in the deepest reaches of the municipal building.

They're accessible now to curious reporters, and others, because they've been removed at least temporarily from the high shelves where they have been stored. Nobody seems to know for sure whether they'll be hauled to the dump or returned to the shelf for another generation or two.

MEANWHILE, they're fascinating reading for somebody who doesn't mind getting sooty dust on his hands and clothing and is willing to sort through acres of dross in search of one little diamond.

County's New Tax Figures Available For Inspection

LISBON — New tax valuations on Columbiana County real estate may be inspected at the tax map division of the county auditor's office in the Courthouse.

Auditor Kenneth Bell today said the Board of Revision has completed its work on the reappraisal figures and will advertise for 10 consecutive days, as required by law, that the figures are on view.

Other members of the board of revision are Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer, and Charles J. Gause, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

Bell said he had hoped to have the figures ready for public inspection in October but was delayed by the volume of work. The county has approximately 65,000 parcels of real estate.

The United Appraisal Co. of Cleveland completed the reappraisal in June. Required every six years by the state, the reappraisal took 23 months and cost $227,500.

Tax statements which Judge will mail early next year covering the first half of 1968 will be based on the new tax valuations for the first time.

The tax value represents 42 per cent of the market valuation of the property based on 1962 construction costs. This

U.S. Hints Reds Plan 2 Key Thrusts

Analysts Estimate 70,000 Troops May Hit South Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. analysts say there are strong indications that the North Vietnamese are preparing thrusts in two key areas of South Vietnam, principally with troops brought back from Cambodia and Laos.

These analysts estimate as many as 70,000 enemy troops are likely to be involved in a new winter offensive, which some officials believe entered its early stages this week.

As they judge it, the enemy's aim is not to take and hold cities but to show — with the peace talks stalled in Paris — that North Vietnam is still able to take the battle initiative.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford told a news conference Tuesday it was too early then to tell whether the enemy planned a winter offensive, although there had been signs of a buildup.

About three months ago, some 30,000 to 40,000 North Vietnamese soldiers in five divisions were reported by U.S. intelligence to have pulled out of South Vietnam into sanctuaries in neighboring Cambodia and Laos.

The prevailing military opinion at the time was that those divisions were being refitted, resupplied and reinforced for a fourth offensive this year.

High-level U.S. leaders chose to regard that pullback, and an accompanying lull in the fighting, as an indication that North Vietnam wanted to get down to serious peace negotiations in Paris.

Now, with the peace talks still stalled, reports reaching Washington indicate that the enemy's 2½ divisions, left behind when the others pulled back in September, have been increased to six divisions totaling about 45,000 men in the Cambodian border area of Tay Ninh and Binh Long Province northwest and north of Saigon.

51 Feared Dead When Jet Crashes In Caribbean Sea

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A Pan American 707 jet exploded over the Caribbean sea and plunged into the water Thursday night 16 miles from Venezuela's international airport north of Caracas.

Fifty-one persons were reported aboard, 42 passengers and a crew of nine, including a trainee stewardess. A search for survivors was continuing, but none was reported.

Officials said it was possible not all the bodies would be recovered.

Seven bodies were reported recovered before dawn.

A passenger list released by Pan American in New York listed 21 persons from addresses in the United States, but a number of these had Latin names, and it was not immediately known if they had been residing or visiting there.

Another five passengers were listed from addresses in Canada, one was from Italy and one passenger was believed to be from Ireland. The airline listed the other 14 passengers from Venezuela.

Among wreckage recovered were interior cabin fittings and some life rafts that inflate automatically upon contact with water.

WILLIAM J. CANELL

The big jet was ending a nonstop flight from New York to Caracas. The airport control tower said it lost contact after the plane reported its approach one minute before it was due to land at 10 p.m.

"I heard a strong noise and then I saw a red ball fall towards the sea," said a guard at the La Guaira Naval Base, 12 miles north of Caracas.

Other residents near the shore also reported seeing the explosion. The wreckage was reported scattered over a wide area.

Radio Aeropuerto, a commercial station at the airport, said the plane reported it was in trouble before its radio went dead, but an airline spokesman said the pilot radioed the airport only "no maintenance," a routine transmission indicating no service would be required on the ground.

Base Camps And Supply Stations Hit

More Than 100 Big Jets Drop 3,000 Tons Of Explosives

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers made their heaviest attacks in two months during the past 43 hours, striking at enemy troops north of Saigon amid strong indications today that the Communist command is preparing a new offensive there.

More than 100 of the big high-altitude bombers dropped 3,000 tons of explosives from noon Thursday to noon today. A U.S. spokesman said it was the heaviest B52 effort since mid-October.

Reports from field commanders said there are strong indications that the North Vietnamese are preparing thrusts into key areas leading toward Saigon. But no significant ground fight was reported anywhere today.

In the latest B52 missions Thursday night and today waves of the eight-jet Stratofortresses blasted base camps, bunkers, supply depots and infiltration corridors, and maneuvering troops.

Aerial observers reported one strike set off 11 secondary explosions, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores.

The raids were in an umbrella pattern stretching from jungle infiltration routes 75 miles northwest of Saigon to within 27 miles northeast of the capital.

U.S. intelligence sources say 15,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese troops, and perhaps even 30,000 are deployed along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian border in the arc.

U.S. analysts in Washington reported Thursday north of Saigon that there are strong indications these troops are preparing for a new winter offensive, while another 20,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese detected moving in from Laos are believed setting their sights on Hue, the old imperial capital at the northern end of South Vietnam.

Aimed At Ending Stalemate In Paris

U.S. And Saigon To Offer New Plan On Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — High-ranking U.S. and South Vietnamese diplomats met again as they readied a new offer to the Communists today aimed at ending the stalemate holding up the expanded Vietnam peace conference.

There was no advance indication that the Communists would agree to the latest allied plan. The allies were reported proposing a two-table arrangement for the conference, hewing to their concept of the parley as being two-sided between them and their opponents.

A North Vietnamese delegation spokesman stood fast on Hanoi's position. He said the table layout must reflect the Communist view of the meeting as four-sided, with full status for the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Informants said the deputy chief U.S. negotiator, Cyrus R. Vance, arranged to present the new allied offer to his North Vietnamese counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, late in the day.

Earlier, sources said Vance and U.S. delegate Philip CM. Habib paid a call on South Vietnam's vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky. The U.S. delegation head, W. Averell Harrriman, worked on the plan with Ky Thursday.

The North Vietnamese were also planning a protest to Vance, accusing the United States of fresh bombings nearly 125 miles inside North Vietnamese territory.

"Whatever the proposal," a Communist spokesman told a newsman, "it must be made clear that the conference is one of four delegations . . . In a word, the shape of the table must be in conformity with the four-delegation conference."

The quarrel over table shapes and other status symbols is taken seriously by the rival diplomats as they maneuver for position.

The Americans and the South Vietnamese contend the peace conference is to be composed of two sides, with themselves on one side and their Communist opponents on the other. They recognize the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, only as an outlaw group and are willing to talk with its representatives only as members of North Vietnam's delegation.

The Communists insist that the NLF is the only authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people and must have separate, equal status at the peace table.

The Communists already have rejected U.S. proposals for a rectangular table or two long tables face to face. They have called for a square table or four tables set in diamond or circular arrangements.

Now It's Truck Hijack

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Two robbers hijacked a telephone company truck collecting change from pay telephones and made off with 44 to 50 boxes of nickels, dimes and quarters, estimated at $2,000 to $3,000.

Caroling Set Sunday At 9 On 'Diamond'

The third annual carol sing will be held Sunday at 9 p.m. around the Christmas tree on the Diamond under auspices of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

Song sheets will be furnished.

Ernest Lowe will lead the singing, the Salvation Army Band will furnish the music and Capt. Richard Bosh of the Salvation Army will read "The Christmas Story."

East Liverpool police will block off the area and direct traffic.

Vandals Turn On Hoses At Salem School

SALEM—Salem Senior High School was closed today due to water vandalism during the night, but some 100 students came to the building today to help clean up rooms and halls flooded when fire hoses were turned on.

Water was standing at 2-inch depths when officials hurried to the building when notified of the damage by Willard Crowl, custodian after he reported for work at 6 a. m.

The vandals had taken fire hoses out of cases in each hall except in the music wing and turned on the water. Two of the hoses were cut when the vandals could not operate the nozzle, authorities said.

No estimate of the damage was made, but classes are expected to resume Monday and a music concert will be held Sunday as planned, Supt. Robert Pond said.

Water seeped from the second floor through the ceiling, causing several tiles to fall, and it was expected the whole ceiling in the main hall near the library will have to be replaced.

Water entered one end of the floor of the gym, but early cleanup work indicated the floor was not damaged to the extent it would force cancellation of Saturday's basketball game with Struthers.

Principal Joseph Marra said some 200 to 300 students telephoned to help when they heard the news. Students were working with mops and buckets under supervision of custodians at mid-morning.

300,000 Adults, Children Absent From Work Or School

Flu Epidemic Closes Some Schools, Colleges

By The Associated Press

The spreading Hong Kong flu epidemic has forced the closing of some schools and colleges and raised absenteeism in business and industry.

The new strain of flu has spread from Los Angeles—where officials say almost 300,000 adults and children are absent from work or school—to New York City where Adelphi University in suburban Garden City canceled undergraduate classes until Jan. 5, saying, "The Hong Kong flu has hit."

The Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point began Christmas vacation eight days early after about half of the 728 midshipmen were stricken.

The National Communicable Disease Center said deaths from pneumonia and influenza have exceeded normal expectations and termed the flu outbreak an epidemic. The center said outbreaks of flu and respiratory diseases from 30 states have been reported, with Hong Kong flu confirmed in 14 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

Actress Tallulah Bankhead, 65, died Thursday of pneumonia, which developed after she came down with the flu.

Here's a rundown on what effect the flu has had on some areas of the country:

California—Los Angeles county health officials say the epidemic is expected to reach a peak between Dec. 17 and Christmas. Gov. Ronald Reagan's voice is husky and he's coughing frequently. All members of the police department have been immunized. In San Diego, four judges, eight court clerks and five court reporters are out sick. Schools reported absentee rates of 10 to 25 per cent, instead of the normal 5 to 6 per cent.

Michigan—Two Catholic schools in Detroit were closed because of flu and a spokesman for the public school system said 13 per cent of the students were absent Thursday. The normal absenteeism rate is 5 to 10 per cent. Chrysler Corp. reported "a significant increase in absenteeism," and a General Motors Corp. employe said, "You could tell something was wrong. The expressway traffic was too light this morning." Classes at public schools in suburban Livonia, Mich., were canceled after 150 students came down with the flu.

Illinois—Hospital administrators in Chicago said employe absentee rates were four times as high as normal and warned outpatient services at some hospitals might have to be curtailed. Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., said it would close for Christmas vacation Friday —five days early—because of the flu.

Iowa—Several cases of Hong Kong flu have been confirmed at the University of Iowa in Des Moines and at Parsons College in Fairfield. Dr. Arnold Reeve, chief of the preventable disease division of the state health department, said there was no epidemic yet, but warned the disease could spread when college students went home for college.

Massachusetts—College infirmaries are reported filling up, although no schools or colleges are closed.

It's Friday The 13th; What Else But Cold?

And what else could one expect on Friday the 13th!

The forecast calls for windy and much colder tonight and Saturday, with snow flurries.

Tonight's low will range between 25 and 30. It was a balmy 50 in downtown East Liverpool early this morning.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Salt on Edgar's feet turns Santa into a top. Edgar says the Butterfly Queen may know how to break the spell. Ding Dong takes a bath and prepares to visit the Queen.

CHAPTER 11

Ding Dong felt wonderful after his bath — the first he'd had in Hippieville. He felt light and shining and as if he could breathe again. But the hippies felt sorry for what he'd had to do. To make up for it they brought him their most cherished possessions.

They gave him the popcorn popper and their last set of finger paints and their only unbroken record of rock 'n' roll music and a fistful of hippie poems.

DING DONG knew these were things the hippies could hardly live without and still be hippies, but when he protested they said it was the very least they could do in view of the sacrifice he had made by taking a bath.

Ding Dong put the things in a paper bag. He picked up the spinning top that had been Santa Claus and carefully placed it, too, in the bag where it went on gently spinning inside the popcorn popper.

Then he and Edgar the elf climbed into Santa's little plane and sailed away leaving the hippies in Hippieville sadder than they had been in many a day.

A long time later Ding Dong and Edgar landed in a wide meadow beside a lake in Butterfly Kingdom. Ding Dong looked around in awe.

The water was greener, the sky bluer, the sun brighter than anyone could ever have imagined. And the flowers! Jessamine and hawthorne. Marigolds and ladyslippers. Violets and daisies. Name any flower — it was there in Butterfly Kingdom.

THOUSANDS and thousands of butterflies played among the flowers. They paid no attention to Ding Dong and the elf as they made their way to the Queen whose palace was a woven trellis of columbine and larkspur and black - eyed Susans.

She looked at Ding Dong kindly and asked him what he wanted.

Ding Dong was glad he had taken a bath and looked so clean. How else would he have had the nerve to face such a queen?

He bowed from the waist and said "Ma'am" politely though he had never done or said such a thing in his life, try though his mother had to make him use some manners.

He told the Queen about Hesekiah and how he'd turned Santa and all the Santa Land folk into spinning tops. He asked if she knew what the three-colored string was that Santa had said would break the dwarf's spell.

THE QUEEN was terribly upset. There were, she said, three threads. One black. One red. One purple. If they were all woven into one string the creature who broke it would lose all his power.

"But, alas," she moaned. "The threads are spun by three fearful witches who would never part wih them."

"I will get them!" announced Edgar the elf.

But the Queen said he could not for if there was one thing the witches hated it was elves. "I myself will go," she declared.

"But," protested Edgar, "if you leave your kingdom you will die!"

"What does it mean to live if Santa Claus is no more?" she wept.

Ding Dong stood up as straight and tall as he possibly could and said in a very small voice, "I'm a man. I will go."

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Salt on Edgar's feet turns Santa into a top. Edgar says the Butterfly Queen may know how to break the spell. Ding Dong takes a bath and prepares to visit the Queen.

CHAPTER 11

Ding Dong felt wonderful after his bath — the first he'd had in Hippieville. He felt light and shining and as if he could breathe again. But the hippies felt sorry for what he'd had to do. To make up for it they brought him their most cherished possessions.

They gave him the popcorn popper and their last set of finger paints and their only unbroken record of rock 'n' roll music and a fistful of hippie poems.

DING DONG knew these were things the hippies could hardly live without and still be hippies, but when he protested they said it was the very least they could do in view of the sacrifice he had made by taking a bath.

Ding Dong put the things in a paper bag. He picked up the spinning top that had been Santa Claus and carefully placed it, too, in the bag where it went on gently spinning inside the popcorn popper.

Then he and Edgar the elf climbed into Santa's little plane and sailed away leaving the hippies in Hippieville sadder than they had been in many a day.

A long time later Ding Dong and Edgar landed in a wide meadow beside a lake in Butterfly Kingdom. Ding Dong looked around in awe.

The water was greener, the sky bluer, the sun brighter than anyone could ever have imagined. And the flowers! Jessamine and hawthorne. Marigolds and ladyslippers. Violets and daisies. Name any flower — it was there in Butterfly Kingdom.

THOUSANDS and thousands of butterflies played among the flowers. They paid no attention to Ding Dong and the elf as they made their way to the Queen whose palace was a woven trellis of columbine and larkspur and black - eyed Susans.

William A. Walters, 67, Dies Following Stroke

William A. Walters, 67, of Beaver, former athletic coach and principal at Midland High School and a teacher at Westgate Junior High School, died Thursday about 12:30 p. m. at Rochester General Hospital, where he had been a patient for two days.

Mr. Walters was en route to East Liverpool Tuesday morning when he apparently suffered a stroke in his car about two blocks from his home in Beaver.

He failed to regain consciousness. He last taught on Monday.

Mr. Walters had taught continuously since his graduation from Lebanon College in 1924, except for a period of three years after World War II when he worked at the Midland Works of Crucible Steel. After teaching for a year at Brocton, N.Y., Walters joined the Midland staff in 1926 and remained until 1945 when he was transferred to West Allis, Wis., where he taught for three years. He then taught at Garfield School and East Junior High School here before returning to Midland about 1957.

New Washington Team

President-elect Richard M. Nixon Wednesday night gave the American people an idea of what his administration is going to be like.

His choices for cabinet positions are linked by a common bond of Republican conservatism that does not detract from a general attitude of progressiveness.

The open manner in which the cabinet was presented to the public it will serve sets a precedent we hope will be carried forward by the Nixon administration.

Open and frequent communication with the American public will do much to remove the credibility gap cloud that now hangs over the White House.

When the president-elect announced his full cabinet in television, he stressed the "extra dimension" in each man. Mr. Nixon's confidence in his selections, some of them longtime friends, came through loud and clear.

MR. NIXON tapped politicians, lawyers, business leaders and respected educators for his team that is faced with the challenge of uniting the nation and conquering its social and economic ills.

It would be unwise to sit in judgment of these men before they take office. Who can say with certainty which man will hold up best under the pressures of the various departments?

No one can forsee specific obstacles and confrontations that will cross the path of the new administration.

All the men picked by Mr. Nixon for his cabinet, along with those equally important subcabinet positions, are patriotic Americans, dedicated to the task of building a better America.

Naturally there will be differences of opinion on how to get the job done. That could be said of any group of men that Mr. Nixon might have picked.

THERE NO DOUBT will be some criticism of the selections but critics need to bear in mind that Mr. Nixon already has announced broad outlines of his domestic and international program and could not be expected to place men of opposite view in top positions.

While the president-elect described new cabinet members as independent thinkers who do not always agree entirely with him, should surprise no one that Mr. Nixon picked men who share common goals with him.

President-elect Nixon has been chosen by the American people to lead this nation. He, in turn, has appointed the men he feels can help him meet the immense responsibility.

The School Recommendations

The recommendations offered the East Liverpool Board of Education as a means of solving the unhappy situation on Shive's Hill are not surprising.

Suggestions about the athletic board, duties of the athletic director, responsibilities and leadership of administrators, communication, awareness of the board of public attitudes and the morale problem must certainly be familiar to most of the board members and the administrators.

Two of the incumbents were elected a year ago on a platform of improving public relations. The Education Development Council, the JUMP series, PTA's and various individuals and civic groups have indicated the need for some of the revisions over the past three years.

The proposals by the Sebold team are for the most part worthy, and the appeal to end petty gripes and personal prejudices is certainly justifiable.

What is uncertain is whether or not an effective remedy can be found in meeting some or all of these recommendations, or if the patterns and personalities of the past and present have created a schism through the education process that will require sterner measures to restore confidence and trust.

The public looks hopefully toward a resolution of this conflict, one of which is permanent and one which will serve as a lesson to the whole community and the field of education in general.

William Walters

Longtime Midland residents learned with sadness today of the death of William A. Walters who was an important part of that town's community existence as a teacher, basketball and football coach and high school principal for many years.

Bill Walters believed in the direct approach of teaching and coaching; his was not of the permissive nor persuasive school, but rather of "learning by doing or else," although he at times displayed patience when he felt it would merit some returns.

He leaves an unforgettable memory in the minds of appreciative students and many friends in the tri-state area.

Looking At Aggression

On an individual basis this is more difficult for some than for others.

Since the beginning of man's discernment, he has observed that some of his kind are relatively placid while others are quick on the trigger. Some are calm and pleasant while others are fiery and explosive.

SCIENCE RECENTLY HAS FOUND that in the male of the specie a specific arrangement of the chromosomes tends to account for the more aggressive individual. It is a condition, a part of his nature, which such an individual brings with him at birth.

When the aggressive individual tends to act aggressively, he frequently causes the normally nonaggressive person to react. Usually the response is either the use of force or submission.

Too seldom is the aggression contained or allayed with words and sweet reason.

A current case in point is the situation involving Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College.

Dr. Hayakawa is an expert in the field of semantics, the science of the meaning of words, which has as its goal better communications and understanding between people.

Helping people to understand one another better and thus reduce their aggressive tendencies is a difficult task, especially when they use the same words but has different meanings for them, such as—justice, morality, truth, etc.

But in Dr. Hayakawa's case, he has not even been given the opportunity to apply his knowledge of semantics to try to promote understanding and dissipate aggressions.

HE HAS BEEN COMPELLED to employ sheer force by calling on the police to combat and restrain the aggressive black militant students who have rioted and destroyed college property.

Dr. Hayakawa's plight is just one more example of behaviorism which rather clearly indicates that man will live in a greatly troubled and disturbed world until such time as science can remove his aggressions through manipulation of his chromosomes, or religionists can persuade all of mankind to truly live by the nonviolent, nonaggressive teachings of their faiths.

Boo Birds Or Real Fans?

Municipal Stadium on windswept Lake Erie will be packed to the rafters when the Cleveland Browns take on the Dallas Cowboys Dec. 21 in the Eastern Conference championship game.

The cheers will be loud and long if the Browns pull off a win over the ever-tough Cowboys.

But what if the Browns have a bad day? What if the National Football League's top rusher, Leroy Kelly, can't get untracked? What if Paul Warfield, one of the flashiest receivers ever to wear a Browns uniform, drops a couple of crucial passes?

Will the fans understand? Will they stick with the team to show appreciation for an already successful season?

Or will they show their primitive instincts and boo the efforts of men who want that championship more than any fan?

We will have to wait and see how the game goes. Then we can record fan reaction.

But we can't help recalling previous displays by Cleveland fans including a recent Sunday afternoon reception for quarterback Frank Ryan. It was more than unsportsmanlike — it was bush league stuff.

The game was played in Green Bay before more than 50,000 fans. In the closing 30 seconds of the contest, every last fan was on his feet giving the Packers the kind of ovation that said former heroics of the Pack were not forgotten.

Water Needed

Efforts of Tinsonsville area residents of Chester to obtain water service deserve the sincere support of city and federal authorities.

There is a clear need for water and sewer lines to insure proper sanitary conditions in that district, to provide modern living facilities for the families there now and to attract new development.

Hopefully, with full backing of the householders and the cooperation of all concerned, 1969 will see fulfillment of this overdue project.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to take this chance to bring attention to a winter after winter condition that exists in East Liverpool.

Regardless of how much it snows, the same businessmen leave the snow to track off or melt, expecting someone else to do the job for them. It is always the same stores that leave this dangerous pile up of snow and ice.

The city is also at fault as they say your sidewalks are to be cleared, but do nothing about it. I am really glad that in the spring and summer the weeds don't grow through concrete, for we would all need to pull weeds to get into these same stores whose owners sit back and watch our customers go elsewhere to shop.

This condition is not like an old soldier—it will not fade away. It calls for a shovel and a bucket of salt which is a very cheap way of making shopping safer and better in East Liverpool.

VICTOR RIESEL

Buffalo Is Not Vanishing

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has the Elephant; Lyndon Johnson, the Donkey. But the ebullient Hubert Humphrey now has the Buffalo. In fact, a whole herd of them, known, or rather still unknown, as the Order of Buffalo, which will kick up a political storm in the next two years as it stampedes into the '70 Congressional election.

Victor Riesel

It started as a gag at the Democratic National Convention, but soon ungagged. On December 2, out at the Seafarers' Piney Point, Md., training center, the vice president was sworn into the order by George Meany, Number One Buffalo. There was more joust than jest in all the foolery when AFL-CIO President Meany handed Mr. Humphrey his membership card and a buffalo pin, which soon will become labor's version of the Kennedys' PT boat tie clasp.

It was a mock swearng-in. But the gaiety did not kill the seriousness of Mr. Humphrey's words, which have gone unreported. In effect, the vice president told the 150 labor leaders present — and their political director, Al Barkan, strategists, statisticians, computer experts, political analysts and such census men as Dick Scammon — that the time had come for all good labor men to come to the aid of the rickety Democratic Party.

It's vital, said "Hubert" to his old friends, to stay in the Democratic Party and restructure it. And he will be with them every second, every precinct inch of the way.

GO IN, SAID HE, ward by ward, county by county, state by state, and give it political strength and clout. He acknowledged there might have been no nomination or campaign for himself if not for George Meany, Number One Buffalo; Al Barkan; Lane Kirkland, the almost anonymous executive assistant to George Meany, and a number of others, including his host, the Seafarers' Paul Hall.

These are the men of the still small Order of Buffalo. On the card handed Mr. Humphrey by Mr. Meany, the legend said:

"Order of Buffalo: Membership in the Order is awarded in general recognition of unbudging, heads-down services rendered at the Democratic National Convention, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26. Authority to wear the symbol of the Order is hereby conferred. Signed, George Meany, National Chairman, and Al Barkan, Director (of the Committee On Political Education).

The Order was launched in Chicago's Hotel Drake when Barkan read that, many hours before the nomination, Sen. Gene McCarthy had said privately: "It's Hubert . . . You see, these old labor people, they just dug in and put their heads down like buffalo. You could not budge them."

Labor's 304 delegates and alternates were all over the place holding the line for their Hubert, and Sen. McCarthy added that, even with Sen. Ted Kennedy, the duo could not corral half the votes needed to nominate either one of them.

AL BARKAN THEN SKETCHED a card and a pin, and they had a "buffalo ball" with the gag. It has caught on. They've come away from their Piney Point soul searching all set to go into every precinct in every state where they have any significant membership — and this can be found in many regions merely by hitting a computer button.

They want the Congress in '70. They care little about President-elect Nixon's middle-of-the-road cabinet. They're watching what their candidate-in-arms told them to observe — the secondary and tertiary appointments to the executive agencies, which actually run the government day by day.

The labor leaders have a wary eye on the "management movement," which calls itself the "Labor Law Reform Committee." The union chiefs believe now it's the labor movement against the management movement in the battle for the political soul of Richard Nixon.

And the Order of Buffalo believes it can elect an unbeatable liberal-labor-Democratic Congressional coalition two years hence. These pragmatists did no day-dreaming in fog-bound Piney Point. Many of them had time aplenty to think when their small ship was snagged by a reef and they awaited rescue for nine hours.

Privately — and that's the measure of their belief — they told themselves that they could have "taken" Dick Nixon had the election run another four or five days. Privately, they blamed the Illinois Federation of Labor for losing the state to Nixon.

"THE FEDERATION JUST did not believe Humphrey had a chance, and didn't start campaigning until it was too late," said one who sat in the brain-draining debriefing session.

Another analyst said that New Jersey could have been taken if former Hoboken Mayor John Grogan, on whom they had been counting, had not died during the campaign. Others were bitter over the desertions and acid attacks on Mr. Humphrey by the intellectuals of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Their statistics do not belie them. They got out well over 125 million pieces of literature. Contrary to the pollsters' opinions, COPE's confidential reports indicate that the rank and file did not reject their leaders, nor believe them fat and discredited.

In Cleveland, for example, COPE's own pollsters made 200,000 phone calls from Oct. 14 to Nov. 4. On the first day, the poll showed 65 per cent favorable to Mr. Humphrey; on Oct. 17, the score went to 71 per cent; on Oct. 24, it was 83 per cent; and on Nov. 4, it jumped to 88 per cent.

They believe they can repeat this and more — in two years — and force President Nixon to rebuff the management movement's drive for tough labor and strike-curbing legislation. The Elephants and the Donkeys would be sagely advised not to think the Buffalo is a vanishing American.

Isolation Revival

The war protesters of today may prove to be the war makers of tomorrow. That's what happened prior to each of the two world wars.

For it was a mistaken impression abroad that the United States was lacking in resoluteness which caused the enemy both times to violate American rights and force this country directly into the conflict.

The current revival of isolationism—the belief that the United States can give up all its commitments around the world, bring back its troops from Vietnam and, in effect, announce that it will no longer give aid to repel aggression — has been supported by "peace" demonstrations not only in the colleges but in the streets of many of our cities.

What is little understood is that dictatorships and irresponsible governments which have substantial military power study carefully the statements made by prominent Americans and watch the course of antiwar demonstrations.

Thus, the feeling has grown recently in the realism of communism that the United States will not again resist a takeover of a smaller country by an aggressor regime.

In 1914, when World War I broke out, the United States pursued a policy of aloofness. When unarmed passenger ships were torpedoed in 1915 by the Germans and American lives were lost, diplomatic notes were exchanged. But once assurances were given to respect American rights, they were accepted.

The Kaistr's government, having taken it for granted that America wouldn't enter the war, suddenly announced early in 1917 that there would be unrestricted submarine warfare against all ships, neutral as well as belligerent.

President Wilson tried in February of 1917 to get Congress to enact legislation to permit the arming of our merchant ships but the Senate balked with a filibuster. In April of 1917, after more American ships were sunk, it became necessary for Congress to adopt a resolution declaring a state of war.

Almost the same thing happened prior to World War II. Isolationism was extolled and antiwar demonstrations were carried on. Indeed, President Roosevelt won a third term in 1940 largely because he indicated clearly that the United States would not become involved in the war which had broken out in Europe a year earlier.

The Hitler government, however, wanted to take no chances, so it persuaded the militaristic regime in Tokyo to attack Pearl Harbor in the hope of forcing the United States to concentrate militarily in the Pacific and abandon any idea of helping Western Europe.

Today there are trouble spots in the Middle East as well as in Southeast Asia. The Soviets are building up their naval forces in the Mediterranean and this will make the problems of the North Atnlantic Treaty Organization even more difficult if it should be called upon to protect Italy, Greece and Turkey, along with Western Europe, from invasion.

There are signs that the Red Chinese may have become disillusioned with their Soviet Allies and could turn out to be friendlier to the United States than has hitherto been imagined.

Already Peking is considering a diminution of its aid to the Hanoi government as Moscow emerges as the principal factor in dictating the terms North Vietnam will require for an armistice settlement like that in Korea.

Meanwhile, misunderstanding and miscalculations can grow. Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, undoubtedly with the best intentions, has just proposed that there be a mutual withdrawal of United States and North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam starting in the next 40 days.

BUT NOTHING WAS SAID about how to prevent the Viet Cong, which is a military arm of the North Vietnamese, from continuing guerrilla warfare in South Vietnam.

The big questions are whether the North Vietnamese, who any day can go back across the border into South Vietnam, will honor the obligations of an armistice agreement and whether any international force will again defend the invaded country.

Peace in the world today and for many years to come depends on the resoluteness of the United States — whether the American people are prepared to help protect weaker nations around the globe.

New Washington Team

President-elect Richard M. Nixon Wednesday night gave the American people an idea of what his administration is going to be like.

His choices for cabinet positions are linked by a common bond of Republican conservatism that does not detract from a general attitude of progressiveness.

The open manner in which the cabinet was presented to the public it will serve sets a precedent we hope will be carried forward by the Nixon administration.

Open and frequent communication with the American public will do much to remove the credibility gap cloud that now hangs over the White House.

When the president-elect announced his full cabinet in television, he stressed the "extra dimension" in each man. Mr. Nixon's confidence in his selections, some of them longtime friends, came through loud and clear.

MR. NIXON tapped politicians, lawyers, business leaders and respected educators for his team that is faced with the challenge of uniting the nation and conquering its social and economic ills.

It would be unwise to sit in judgment of these men before they take office. Who can say with certainty which man will hold up best under the pressures of the various departments?

No one can forsee specific obstacles and confrontations that will cross the path of the new administration.

All the men picked by Mr. Nixon for his cabinet, along with those equally important subcabinet positions, are patriotic Americans, dedicated to the task of building a better America.

Naturally there will be differences of opinion on how to get the job done. That could be said of any group of men that Mr. Nixon might have picked.

THERE NO DOUBT will be some criticism of the selections but critics need to bear in mind that Mr. Nixon already has announced broad outlines of his domestic and international program and could not be expected to place men of opposite view in top positions.

While the president-elect described new cabinet members as independent thinkers who do not always agree entirely with him, should surprise no one that Mr. Nixon picked men who share common goals with him.

President-elect Nixon has been chosen by the American people to lead this nation. He, in turn, has appointed the men he feels can help him meet the immense responsibility.

The School Recommendations

The recommendations offered the East Liverpool Board of Education as a means of solving the unhappy situation on Shive's Hill are not surprising.

Suggestions about the athletic board, duties of the athletic director, responsibilities and leadership of administrators, communication, awareness of the board of public attitudes and the morale problem must certainly be familiar to most of the board members and the administrators.

Two of the incumbents were elected a year ago on a platform of improving public relations. The Education Development Council, the JUMP series, PTA's and various individuals and civic groups have indicated the need for some of the revisions over the past three years.

The proposals by the Sebold team are for the most part worthy, and the appeal to end petty gripes and personal prejudices is certainly justifiable.

What is uncertain is whether or not an effective remedy can be found in meeting some or all of these recommendations, or if the patterns and personalities of the past and present have created a schism through the education process that will require sterner measures to restore confidence and trust.

The public looks hopefully toward a resolution of this conflict, one of which is permanent and one which will serve as a lesson to the whole community and the field of education in general.

William Walters

Longtime Midland residents learned with sadness today of the death of William A. Walters who was an important part of that town's community existence as a teacher, basketball and football coach and high school principal for many years.

Bill Walters believed in the direct approach of teaching and coaching; his was not of the permissive nor persuasive school, but rather of "learning by doing or else," although he at times displayed patience when he felt it would merit some returns.

He leaves an unforgettable memory in the minds of appreciative students and many friends in the tri-state area.

Looking At Aggression

On an individual basis this is more difficult for some than for others.

Since the beginning of man's discernment, he has observed that some of his kind are relatively placid while others are quick on the trigger. Some are calm and pleasant while others are fiery and explosive.

SCIENCE RECENTLY HAS FOUND that in the male of the specie a specific arrangement of the chromosomes tends to account for the more aggressive individual. It is a condition, a part of his nature, which such an individual brings with him at birth.

When the aggressive individual tends to act aggressively, he frequently causes the normally nonaggressive person to react. Usually the response is either the use of force or submission.

Too seldom is the aggression contained or allayed with words and sweet reason.

A current case in point is the situation involving Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College.

Dr. Hayakawa is an expert in the field of semantics, the science of the meaning of words, which has as its goal better communications and understanding between people.

Helping people to understand one another better and thus reduce their aggressive tendencies is a difficult task, especially when they use the same words but has different meanings for them, such as—justice, morality, truth, etc.

But in Dr. Hayakawa's case, he has not even been given the opportunity to apply his knowledge of semantics to try to promote understanding and dissipate aggressions.

HE HAS BEEN COMPELLED to employ sheer force by calling on the police to combat and restrain the aggressive black militant students who have rioted and destroyed college property.

Dr. Hayakawa's plight is just one more example of behaviorism which rather clearly indicates that man will live in a greatly troubled and disturbed world until such time as science can remove his aggressions through manipulation of his chromosomes, or religionists can persuade all of mankind to truly live by the nonviolent, nonaggressive teachings of their faiths.

Boo Birds Or Real Fans?

Municipal Stadium on windswept Lake Erie will be packed to the rafters when the Cleveland Browns take on the Dallas Cowboys Dec. 21 in the Eastern Conference championship game.

The cheers will be loud and long if the Browns pull off a win over the ever-tough Cowboys.

But what if the Browns have a bad day? What if the National Football League's top rusher, Leroy Kelly, can't get untracked? What if Paul Warfield, one of the flashiest receivers ever to wear a Browns uniform, drops a couple of crucial passes?

Will the fans understand? Will they stick with the team to show appreciation for an already successful season?

Or will they show their primitive instincts and boo the efforts of men who want that championship more than any fan?

We will have to wait and see how the game goes. Then we can record fan reaction.

But we can't help recalling previous displays by Cleveland fans including a recent Sunday afternoon reception for quarterback Frank Ryan. It was more than unsportsmanlike — it was bush league stuff.

The game was played in Green Bay before more than 50,000 fans. In the closing 30 seconds of the contest, every last fan was on his feet giving the Packers the kind of ovation that said former heroics of the Pack were not forgotten.

Water Needed

Efforts of Tinsonsville area residents of Chester to obtain water service deserve the sincere support of city and federal authorities.

There is a clear need for water and sewer lines to insure proper sanitary conditions in that district, to provide modern living facilities for the families there now and to attract new development.

Hopefully, with full backing of the householders and the cooperation of all concerned, 1969 will see fulfillment of this overdue project.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to take this chance to bring attention to a winter after winter condition that exists in East Liverpool.

Regardless of how much it snows, the same businessmen leave the snow to track off or melt, expecting someone else to do the job for them. It is always the same stores that leave this dangerous pile up of snow and ice.

The city is also at fault as they say your sidewalks are to be cleared, but do nothing about it. I am really glad that in the spring and summer the weeds don't grow through concrete, for we would all need to pull weeds to get into these same stores whose owners sit back and watch our customers go elsewhere to shop.

This condition is not like an old soldier—it will not fade away. It calls for a shovel and a bucket of salt which is a very cheap way of making shopping safer and better in East Liverpool.

Buffalo Is Not Vanishing

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has the Elephant; Lyndon Johnson, the Donkey. But the ebullient Hubert Humphrey now has the Buffalo. In fact, a whole herd of them, known, or rather still unknown, as the Order of Buffalo, which will kick up a political storm in the next two years as it stampedes into the '70 Congressional election.

Victor Riesel

It started as a gag at the Democratic National Convention, but soon ungagged. On December 2, out at the Seafarers' Piney Point, Md., training center, the vice president was sworn into the order by George Meany, Number One Buffalo. There was more joust than jest in all the foolery when AFL-CIO President Meany handed Mr. Humphrey his membership card and a buffalo pin, which soon will become labor's version of the Kennedys' PT boat tie clasp.

It was a mock swearng-in. But the gaiety did not kill the seriousness of Mr. Humphrey's words, which have gone unreported. In effect, the vice president told the 150 labor leaders present — and their political director, Al Barkan, strategists, statisticians, computer experts, political analysts and such census men as Dick Scammon — that the time had come for all good labor men to come to the aid of the rickety Democratic Party.

It's vital, said "Hubert" to his old friends, to stay in the Democratic Party and restructure it. And he will be with them every second, every precinct inch of the way.

GO IN, SAID HE, ward by ward, county by county, state by state, and give it political strength and clout. He acknowledged there might have been no nomination or campaign for himself if not for George Meany, Number One Buffalo; Al Barkan; Lane Kirkland, the almost anonymous executive assistant to George Meany, and a number of others, including his host, the Seafarers' Paul Hall.

These are the men of the still small Order of Buffalo. On the card handed Mr. Humphrey by Mr. Meany, the legend said:

"Order of Buffalo: Membership in the Order is awarded in general recognition of unbudging, heads-down services rendered at the Democratic National Convention, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26. Authority to wear the symbol of the Order is hereby conferred. Signed, George Meany, National Chairman, and Al Barkan, Director (of the Committee On Political Education).

The Order was launched in Chicago's Hotel Drake when Barkan read that, many hours before the nomination, Sen. Gene McCarthy had said privately: "It's Hubert . . . You see, these old labor people, they just dug in and put their heads down like buffalo. You could not budge them."

Labor's 304 delegates and alternates were all over the place holding the line for their Hubert, and Sen. McCarthy added that, even with Sen. Ted Kennedy, the duo could not corral half the votes needed to nominate either one of them.

AL BARKAN THEN SKETCHED a card and a pin, and they had a "buffalo ball" with the gag. It has caught on. They've come away from their Piney Point soul searching all set to go into every precinct in every state where they have any significant membership — and this can be found in many regions merely by hitting a computer button.

They want the Congress in '70. They care little about President-elect Nixon's middle-of-the-road cabinet. They're watching what their candidate-in-arms told them to observe — the secondary and tertiary appointments to the executive agencies, which actually run the government day by day.

The labor leaders have a wary eye on the "management movement," which calls itself the "Labor Law Reform Committee." The union chiefs believe now it's the labor movement against the management movement in the battle for the political soul of Richard Nixon.

And the Order of Buffalo believes it can elect an unbeatable liberal-labor-Democratic Congressional coalition two years hence. These pragmatists did no day-dreaming in fog-bound Piney Point. Many of them had time aplenty to think when their small ship was snagged by a reef and they awaited rescue for nine hours.

Privately — and that's the measure of their belief — they told themselves that they could have "taken" Dick Nixon had the election run another four or five days. Privately, they blamed the Illinois Federation of Labor for losing the state to Nixon.

"THE FEDERATION JUST did not believe Humphrey had a chance, and didn't start campaigning until it was too late," said one who sat in the brain-draining debriefing session.

Another analyst said that New Jersey could have been taken if former Hoboken Mayor John Grogan, on whom they had been counting, had not died during the campaign. Others were bitter over the desertions and acid attacks on Mr. Humphrey by the intellectuals of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Their statistics do not belie them. They got out well over 125 million pieces of literature. Contrary to the pollsters' opinions, COPE's confidential reports indicate that the rank and file did not reject their leaders, nor believe them fat and discredited.

Apollo 8 Moon Flight

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Astronauts To Blaze Trail For Future Spacemen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. ap) — "We'll be blazing the trail for future astronauts, making it easier to land on the moon."

That's how Air Force Col. Frank Borman sums up the Apollo 8 mission scheduled to blast off Dec. 21, headed for an historic orbit around the moon.

Borman will command the six-day flight. With him will be Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders.

"You must keep in mind," Anders explained, "that this will be, for us, the first eyeball connected to a brain, connected to an arm that can write and a tongue that can speak, in this vicinity of the solar system.

"We think that by having a man up there, we can really do a job that you cannot possibly do with unmanned vehicles."

Lovell commented:

To Provide Experience

"A manned moon orbit flight before a manned lunar landing mission will provide us with experience in sending a spacecraft out to that distance and operating it in lunar orbit. It will enable us to better understand the problems that might arise to determine our precise orbits about the moon, to determine the operation of the thrusters, life support, communications and other systems in that environment.

"If we know these things, then you have confidence you can land the next time out."

Apollo 8 is to circle the moon 10 times in 20 hours at an altitude of 69 miles on Christmas Eve and part of Christmas Day.

The flight path will take the astronauts over an area near the crater Censorinus in the Sea of Tranquillity which is considered a prime spot for the first astronaut landing on the moon.

"We'll photograph it and other areas extensively," Anders said. "We'll get a stereo effect that will be a valuable tool for training moon landing astronauts. It will show them exactly what their approach will look like, what boulders, craters and so on are there."

Lovell, the navigation expert, said location of features on the front side of the moon facing earth are well known because they have been extensively studied. But he noted locations on the hidden backside, photographed by cameras in the unmanned Lunar Orbiter series, are not known accurately.

Key Backside Features

"We must know where certain key backside features are to help us navigate," Lovell said. "We'll attempt with our sextant, telescope, computer and cameras to get exact fixes on at least three backside positions."

Navigation and ground tracking are two major goals of the mission. Tracking stations particularly want to know how the path of Apollo 8 will be altered by large metallic objects imbedded beneath the surface like raisins in a loaf of bread.

The objects affect the moon's weak gravitational field and cause subtle changes in the orbital path of a spaceship. This was disclosed by tracking of the five Lunar Orbiters.

Each time an orbiter passed over one of five large ringed maria, or dry seas, changes in frequency of radio signals showed it dipped 15 to 30 feet, increasing its 4,500-mile-an-hour speed by about one mile an hour. The five seas are Imbrium, Serenitatis, Crisium, Nectaris and Humorum.

There was no such effect when the vehicles passed over irregular unringed seas such as Tranquillitatis, Fecunditatis and Oceanus Procellarum.

Five Ringed Areas

In each of the five ringed areas, scientists at the space agency's Jet Propulsion Laboratory reported there are mass concentrations of dense material called mascons in the lunar crust. The makeup of these "raisins" is not known, but they could be nickel-iron meteorites that buried themselves about 30 miles below the surface.

Such an impact, the scientists said, could have thrown out enough debris to create the rings around the five seas. If so, the mascons could be up to 50 miles in diameter and thus exert a great gravitational pull on a ship orbiting the moon.

Anders said that based on current information about the gravitational field, moon landing astronauts could miss their target by as much as 48 miles.

"The more we learn about the moon's gravitational field," he said, "the less will be our error when astronauts land."

Knowledge Of Field

He said knowledge of the field will be vital when two astronauts launch themselves off the moon next year in their Lunar Module and rendezvous with the third astronaut who has been circling the moon in the main Apollo ship.

"If we don't know the characteristics of the field," Anders said, "the two vehicles might have a difficult time with the rendezvous."

Anders noted that while the mission this month is primarily an operational one, the astronauts will look for scientific targets if time permits. Among the possibilities:

—"We'll look at fault zones called rills that don't have an explanation. They almost look erosional and we'll look for flow features and for a beginning and an end."

—"Some craters are obviously impacts, others caused by something internal on the moon. We'll look at those in the middle that we can't tell about."

—The so-called red spots near the crater Aristarchus which have been reported by Russian and other scientists and which some believe could be active volcanoes.

—"A good spot is when you come out of darkness into sunlight, where something that might have been frozen in the cold night might be vaporizing as it is heated by the sun."

Hunters should have their eyes checked each year before taking to the woods, says the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Undated Ohio Traffic Fatalities

By The Associated Press

A Euclid, Cuyahoga County man, and a Mahoning County woman are the latest victims added to Ohio's traffic death toll.

The dead:

Robert L. Batt, 28, of Euclid.

Mrs. Edith Lawson, 65, of Boardman, Mahoning County.

Batt, a passenger in an automobile, was killed in the collision of two cars early Friday at the intersection of East 222nd Street and Tracy Avenue in Euclid. The drivers of the cars involved, Douglas M. Denk, 25, and Donald K. Bronkall, 37, of Euclid, were taken to Euclid General Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Lawson was killed Thursday night when her car collided with a truck at the intersection of Ohio 14 and 62, five miles south of Youngstown.

Wife Loses $4,900 In Confidence Game

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A suburban Parma Heights housewife lost $4,900 to two confidence women who approached her at a shopping center Thursday, police said.

The victim, Lilliam M. Liba, 49, told police one of the women told her she had found $6,000 and that her employer told her she should split it three ways.

Mrs. Liba took the two women to her home where she got $4,900 in savings to put up as security. When they returned to the shopping center, she was told to go see one of the confidence women's 'employer' while they held the money.

When she failed to find the employer, she returned to find the two women gone.

Apollo 8 Moon Flight

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Astronauts To Blaze Trail For Future Spacemen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. ap) — "We'll be blazing the trail for future astronauts, making it easier to land on the moon."

That's how Air Force Col. Frank Borman sums up the Apollo 8 mission scheduled to blast off Dec. 21, headed for an historic orbit around the moon.

Borman will command the six-day flight. With him will be Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders.

"You must keep in mind," Anders explained, "that this will be, for us, the first eyeball connected to a brain, connected to an arm that can write and a tongue that can speak, in this vicinity of the solar system.

"We think that by having a man up there, we can really do a job that you cannot possibly do with unmanned vehicles."

Lovell commented:

To Provide Experience

"A manned moon orbit flight before a manned lunar landing mission will provide us with experience in sending a spacecraft out to that distance and operating it in lunar orbit. It will enable us to better understand the problems that might arise to determine our precise orbits about the moon, to determine the operation of the thrusters, life support, communications and other systems in that environment.

"If we know these things, then you have confidence you can land the next time out."

Apollo 8 is to circle the moon 10 times in 20 hours at an altitude of 69 miles on Christmas Eve and part of Christmas Day.

The flight path will take the astronauts over an area near the crater Censorinus in the Sea of Tranquillity which is considered a prime spot for the first astronaut landing on the moon.

"We'll photograph it and other areas extensively," Anders said. "We'll get a stereo effect that will be a valuable tool for training moon landing astronauts. It will show them exactly what their approach will look like, what boulders, craters and so on are there."

Lovell, the navigation expert, said location of features on the front side of the moon facing earth are well known because they have been extensively studied. But he noted locations on the hidden backside, photographed by cameras in the unmanned Lunar Orbiter series, are not known accurately.

Key Backside Features

"We must know where certain key backside features are to help us navigate," Lovell said. "We'll attempt with our sextant, telescope, computer and cameras to get exact fixes on at least three backside positions."

Navigation and ground tracking are two major goals of the mission. Tracking stations particularly want to know how the path of Apollo 8 will be altered by large metallic objects imbedded beneath the surface like raisins in a loaf of bread.

The objects affect the moon's weak gravitational field and cause subtle changes in the orbital path of a spaceship. This was disclosed by tracking of the five Lunar Orbiters.

Each time an orbiter passed over one of five large ringed maria, or dry seas, changes in frequency of radio signals showed it dipped 15 to 30 feet, increasing its 4,500-mile-an-hour speed by about one mile an hour. The five seas are Imbrium, Serenitatis, Crisium, Nectaris and Humorum.

There was no such effect when the vehicles passed over irregular unringed seas such as Tranquillitatis, Fecunditatis and Oceanus Procellarum.

Five Ringed Areas

In each of the five ringed areas, scientists at the space agency's Jet Propulsion Laboratory reported there are mass concentrations of dense material called mascons in the lunar crust. The makeup of these "raisins" is not known, but they could be nickel-iron meteorites that buried themselves about 30 miles below the surface.

Such an impact, the scientists said, could have thrown out enough debris to create the rings around the five seas. If so, the mascons could be up to 50 miles in diameter and thus exert a great gravitational pull on a ship orbiting the moon.

Anders said that based on current information about the gravitational field, moon landing astronauts could miss their target by as much as 48 miles.

"The more we learn about the moon's gravitational field," he said, "the less will be our error when astronauts land."

Knowledge Of Field

He said knowledge of the field will be vital when two astronauts launch themselves off the moon next year in their Lunar Module and rendezvous with the third astronaut who has been circling the moon in the main Apollo ship.

teristics of the field," Anders

"If we don't know the charac-said, "the two vehicles might tave a difficult time with the rendezvous."

Anders noted that while the mission this month is primarily an operational one, the astronauts will look for scientific targets if time permits. Among the possibilities:

—"We'll look at fault zones called rills that don't have an explanation. They almost look erosional and we'll look for flow features and for a beginning and an end."

—"Some craters are obviously impacts, others caused by something internal on the moon. We'll look at those in the middle that we can't tell about."

—The so-called red spots near the crater Aristarchus which have been reported by Russian and other scientists and which some believe could be active volcanoes.

—"A good spot is when you come out of darkness into sunlight, where something that might have been frozen in the cold night might be vaporizing as it is heated by the sun."

Hunters should have their eyes checked each year before taking to the woods, says the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Undated Ohio Traffic Fatalities

By The Associated Press

A Euclid, Cuyahoga County man, and a Mahoning County woman are the latest victims added to Ohio's traffic death toll.

The dead:

Robert L. Batt, 28, of Euclid.

Mrs. Edith Lawson, 65, of Boardman, Mahoning County.

Batt, a passenger in an automobile, was killed in the collision of two cars early Friday at the intersection of East 222nd Street and Tracy Avenue in Euclid. The drivers of the cars involved, Douglas M. Denk, 25, and Donald K, Bronkall, 37, of Euclid, were taken to Euclid General Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Lawson was killed Thursday night when her car collided with a truck at the intersection of Ohio 14 and 62, five miles south of Youngstown.

Wife Loses $4,900 In Confidence Game

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A suburban Parma Heights housewife lost $4,900 to two confidence women who approached her at a shopping center Thursday, police said.

The victim, Lilliam M. Liba, 49, told police one of the women told her she had found $6,000 and that her employer told her she should split it three ways.

Mrs. Liba took the two women to her home where she got $4,900 in savings to put up as security. When they returned to the shopping center, she was told to go see one of the confidence women's 'employer' while they held the money.

When she failed to find the employer, she returned to find the two women gone.

Dust raised in storms over Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, has traveled to New Hampshire and Vermont, borne aloft two or three miles.

In Town Where 78 Are Entombed

Christmas Of Some Sort Assured Miners' Children

CONSOL No. 9, W. Va. (AP) —For the grownups who live around the big coal mine the joy and hope of Christmas lie buried there this year with 78 men.

But Christmas is mostly for children, and many of the adults are determined to salvage something of the traditional holiday spirit for the young ones.

The 78 miners, trapped by explosions and fire in No. 9, were presumed dead when the pits were sealed on Nov. 30 after 10 days of futile rescue attempts. They left 75 widows and 133 sons and daughters.

Mrs. Bea Martin's miner husband was not among the entombed, but she expressed the general community gloom this way: "We're not going to celebrate Christmas. I don't see how anyone can."

Mrs. Hartzel Mayle, mother of 16 and widow of one of the lost miners, took a brave opposite view.

"He would have wanted us to have a Christmas," Mrs. Mayle said. "That was our big day. My husband would play football in the house with the kids. We'll all try to have a Christmas.

"We have our farm and we're going to get by. I'm planning to buy some cows and we have the corn and hogs and chickens.

"I had a wonderful husband, I know he wouldn't like it if I threw up my hands and said I couldn't make it and quit. We're going to make it."

Money, clothes and toys keep coming into Farmington where the No. 9 disaster fund office is located. L. Clyde Riley an official of the United Mine Workers Union, said about $15,200 had been collected and the fund has only been established a few days. Inquiries have come from Nova Scotia, Florida, California, Mississippi, Wyoming and elsewhere.

Water Authority Grants Time Extension On Lines

A 45-day extension has been granted both contractors working on the new water lines and boosters for Industry's $667,810 water expansion project.

The extension was approved by the Industry Municipal Authority Tuesday night.

The W. J. Schnieder Co. of Pittsburgh and the Gengarella Construction Co. of Midland received the extension because pipe scheduled to be delivered by a southern firm was delayed due to a strike.

The authority had been trying to get water to the Western Beaver School by Christmas but it will be delayed until the end of the year. This part of the project was scheduled for completion in 90 days.

Don Haswell, chairman, said this will not effect the overall schedule of 210 calendar days for the entire project, which is still on schedule.

A tiein planned for last week at a gas station on Route 68 was delayed because of rain.

Payment of $64,998.64 from the escrow fund was approved with the bulk going to the Schnieder Co.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 14.

Hearing Slated For Man, 56, Accused Of Drunken Driving

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Monday morning for a 56-year-old man cited by police Thursday night on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Herbert H. Givens of 1117 Lisbon St., arrested at 10:36 on Lisbon St. Hill, requested a continuance to allow him to obtain counsel. No plea was entered. The court set his appearance bond at $500.

Patrolmen Charles Coen and David Huffman cited the motorist after his auto went off the right side of the street and struck an embankment. It was undamaged.

Meanwhile, four motorists cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol were fined, one paid court costs and a continuance was granted a fifth who pleaded not guilty.

Raymond L. Baker, 23, of 339 W. 8th St. was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a traffic light on W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. He was cited Monday at 11 p.m. Michael J. O'Brien, 28, of McDonald also was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge he crashed a stop sign at the junction of Routes 7 and 30. He was cited Tuesday at 6:40 a. m.

Lida Jean Smith, 21, of 133 Kountz Ave., Wellsville, was finen $15 and costs after pleading "no contest" on a charge of driving 77 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. She was cited Nov. 26 at 12:23 p.m. William N. Fogle, 41, of Toronto, accused of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the same stretch, was fined $10 and costs. He also pleaded "no contest". Fogle was cited Nov. 26 at 11:55 a. m. Both Miss Smith and Fogle were cited in a speed check made by a spotter in a light plane and an interceptor cruiser, the patrol reported.

Kenneth G. Stefl, 31, of RD 4 was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of driving with an operator's permit that expired Sept. 27. He produced a new permit today in court. Stefl was cited Monday at 10:45 p. m. on Route 30.

The judge set a hearing Wednesday for Calvin P. Sapp, 24, of Ravenna, who pleaded not guilty on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. Sapp, cited Nov. 22 at 9:15 p.m., posted a $27.50 bond.

500 Ohio GOP Leaders Urge Bliss Be Kept At His Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 500 Ohio Republican party leaders celebrating their Nov. 5 successes Thursday adopted a resolution praising the work of GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss and urging that he be kept at that post.

Rumors have abounded that Bliss, the former Ohio GOP chief, may soon be evicted from the national post in favor of a man selected by President-elect Nixon.

The resolution, presented by Cuyahoga County Chairman Saul G. Stillman, said that Bliss helped mend a serious party split in 1965 and then led the drive to "restore the party to a position of strength and prestige throughout the nation."

The resolution stated that during Bliss' tenure, the GOP has gained the greatest number of governorships since 1920 — 31, the most seats in the Senate and the House since 1956, and control of the largest number of state legislatures since 1954—20.

State party chairman John S. Andrews told the crowd that in addition to winning Ohio for Nixon, capturing a Senate seat and electing 18 U.S. representatives, the state Republicans also elected 63 per cent of the county officials, 81 per cent of the court of appeals judges and 64 per cent of the common pleas court judges.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, spoke briefly at the victory luncheon and indicated that Republicans may soon have the opportunity elect another congressman.

McCulloch refused to elaborate on the comment, but speculation was that a Democratic congressman may soon resign or be appointed to a federal post.

The state's Democrats elected to House seats last month are Thomas L. Ashley, Toledo; Wayne L. Hays, Flushing; Michael J. Kirwan, Youngstown, and Charles A. Vanik, Michael A. Feighan and Louis Stokes, of Cleveland.

Pedestrian Hurt When Car Backs And Bumps Knee

Frank Diamond, 71, of 1510 Jennings Ave., long-time proprietor of an East Liverpool men's store bearing his name, suffered a wrenched knee Thursday afternoon when he was bumped by a backing auto as he stood at the junction of E. 5th St. and Crook Alley, police reported.

Police said Diamond was bumped at 5:15 by a backing 1961 two-door sedan driven by William A. Brindley, 51, of 934 Orchard Grove Ave. Diamond went to headquarters at 6 to file a report. He said he was standing at the intersection with Emmanuel Bondy of W. 5th St. waiting for traffic to clear when a backing car hit him, twisting his knee. Brindley told police he checked his rear view mirror for clearance before backing. He said he felt a bump, stopped the car and found Diamond rubbing his knee.

Meanwhile, a mishap at 1:47 p.m. on Broadway 40 feet north of Diamond Alley involved a backing 1960 two-door seedan driven by William P. Wathey of Glenmoor and a halted 1968 Twila M. Dunn of Calcutta.

Clyde M. Kirchner of Dewey Ave. told police the right door of his 1968 auto was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle between 3:45 and 4:25 p. m. yesterday while parked on the lot at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave.

LONDON (AP) — Sylvia Hall, 30-year-old mother of three, won a divorce Thursday because her husband shouted reminders through the mailbox that he was going to make love to her that night.

Mrs. Hall told the court that her husband, Raymond, 34, fixed a rigid timetable of sexual relations three times a week. When he left the house for work those mornings, she said, he would yell a reminder through the letter box on the front door.

"She grew to dread these days and became all tensed up and nervous," said Judge Sir Jocelyn Simon. He ruled cruelty.

It takes only about a minute for a drop of blood to leave a person's heart, circle the body and return to the heart again.

Water Authority Grants Time Extension On Lines

A 45-day extension has been granted both contractors working on the new water lines and boosters for Industry's $667,810 water expansion project.

The extension was approved by the Industry Municipal Authority Tuesday night.

The W. J. Schnieder Co. of Pittsburgh and the Gengarella Construction Co. of Midland received the extension because pipe scheduled to be delivered by a southern firm was delayed due to a strike.

The authority had been trying to get water to the Western Beaver School by Christmas but it will be delayed until the end of the year. This part of the project was scheduled for completion in 90 days.

Don Haswell, chairman, said this will not effect the overall schedule of 210 calendar days for the entire project, which is still on schedule.

A tiein planned for last week at a gas station on Route 68 was delayed because of rain.

Payment of $64,998.64 from the escrow fund was approved with the bulk going to the Schnieder Co.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 14.

500 Ohio GOP Leaders Urge Bliss Be Kept At His Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 500 Ohio Republican party leaders celebrating their Nov. 5 successes Thursday adopted a resolution praising the work of GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss and urging that he be kept at that post.

Rumors have abounded that Bliss, the former Ohio GOP chief, may soon be evicted from the national post in favor of a man selected by President-elect Nixon.

The resolution, presented by Cuyahoga County Chairman Saul G. Stillman, said that Bliss helped mend a serious party split in 1965 and then led the drive to "restore the party to a position of strength and prestige throughout the nation."

The resolution stated that during Bliss' tenure, the GOP has gained the greatest number of governorships since 1920 — 31, the most seats in the Senate and the House since 1956, and control of the largest number of state legislatures since 1954—20.

State party chairman John S. Andrews told the crowd that in addition to winning Ohio for Nixon, capturing a Senate seat and electing 18 U.S. representatives, the state Republicans also elected 63 per cent of the county officials, 81 per cent of the court of appeals judges and 64 per cent of the common pleas court judges.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, spoke briefly at the victory luncheon and indicated that Republicans may soon have the opportunity elect another congressman.

McCulloch refused to elaborate on the comment, but speculation was that a Democratic congressman may soon resign or be appointed to a federal post.

The state's Democrats elected to House seats last month are Thomas L. Ashley, Toledo; Wayne L. Hays, Flushing; Michael J. Kirwan, Youngstown, and Charles A. Vanik, Michael A. Feighan and Louis Stokes, of Cleveland.

Pedestrian Hurt When Car Backs And Bumps Knee

Frank Diamond, 71, of 1510 Jennings Ave., long-time proprietor of an East Liverpool men's store bearing his name, suffered a wrenched knee Thursday afternoon when he was bumped by a backing auto as he stood at the junction of E. 5th St. and Crook Alley, police reported.

Police said Diamond was bumped at 5:15 by a backing 1961 two-door sedan driven by William A. Brindley, 51, of 934 Orchard Grove Ave. Diamond went to headquarters at 6 to file a report. He said he was standing at the intersection with Emmanuel Bondy of W. 5th St. waiting for traffic to clear when a backing car hit him, twisting his knee. Brindley told police he checked his rear view mirror for clearance before backing. He said he felt a bump, stopped the car and found Diamond rubbing his knee.

Meanwhile, a mishap at 1:47 p.m. on Broadway 40 feet north of Diamond Alley involved a backing 1960 two-door seedan driven by William P. Wathey of Glenmoor and a halted 1968 Twila M. Dunn of Calcutta.

Clyde M. Kirchner of Dewey Ave. told police the right door of his 1968 auto was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle between 3:45 and 4:25 p. m. yesterday while parked on the lot at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Actors Are Just Like You And Me

Every once in awhile some dewy-eyed observer reports that the actors in Hollywood aren't really any different from your neighbors or mine.

Hal Humphrey

This is true — if, say, the couple in the 12-room house next to you look like a pair of hippies, have five children, two cheetahs (yes, live ones), a baby chimpanzee and an assortment of some 15 dogs and cats.

That, at any rate, is the physical setup at the homes of Bob Denver, who now plays Rufus Butterworth in a CBS-TV series called "The Good Guys."

ACTUALLY, Denver is still playing Maynard Krebs, the kooky friend in the old Dobie Gillis series starring Dwayne Hickman. Or he could say he is still doing Gilligan of "Gilligan's Island," the series of a season ago which ran for three years.

It was this sameness of his role and situation comedy on TV generally that I was going to talk about with Denver over a bit of lunch this week, but we never got to it.

"I'm sorry," said Denver's press agent, Mickey Freeman, as he came into the restaurant, "but I'm afraid he can't make it."

"WHY NOT?" I asked impatiently.

"You're right," I said. "Try again. I don't believe it."

Freeman, however, persistently stuck to his story and filled me in with the details. Denver's wife, Butchy, had brought Henry the chimp down to the studio along with two dogs. One dog was theirs, but the other belonged to a neighbor, who was traveling to New York with the Denvers' two cheetahs.

"Wait," I said, "did you say two cheetahs and New York?"

YES, that was right. You see Denver recently bought a 500-acre farm in the Catskills because, long before Frank Sinatra, Denver decided not to live in smoggy California any more.

And since Denver's neighbors were going to New York, they said they'd be happy to deliver the two cheetahs, so the Denvers wouldn't have to bother with them when they move the kids, cats and dogs and maybe Henry to the new farm next week.

The reason Henry the chimp is on the maybe list is that while Butchy was visiting her husband, Henry got into her purse and took some pain killer pills and passed out. In her haste to get Henry to the hospital, Butchy left the two dogs behind with Denver, who didn't feel he should leave them alone, especially since one of them wasn't even his, but his neighbor's.

"WHY CAN'T WE go to the studio, and I'll interview both Denver and the dogs?" I asked Freeman.

He thought that was a capital idea, but said he'd better phone the studio first to make sure Denver was still there. He wasn't, Denver's stand-in reported to Freeman. Butchy had called from the veterinarian's where Henry was getting his stomach pumped out, but it was touch-and-go, and she thought Denver should be there, too.

I wound up having lunch with Freeman. We discussed actors and how they really aren't any different from your neighbors or mine. When I got back to the office, I called Denver at his home. Not that I don't trust press agents, but I thought it only civil to inquire about Henry's health.

"WELL," replied Denver, "Henry's still out, but he moves once in awhile. He's only 11 months old, you know, and just like a baby. I'm sorry I couldn't meet you today, but you see how it is."

I told Denver I certainly understood how it is. We talked on a minute or two about the state of comedy on TV, but I could tell his heart wasn't in it. As he said, though, the main trouble is that nobody has any fresh ideas.

When Henry recovers, if he does, I'm going to suggest to Denver that he hit his writers with the idea of a comedian who lives with his wife, two cheetahs, five children, a baby chimpanzee and an assortment of some 15 dogs and cats and is moving to a farm in New York to escape the smog. It's silly enough to become a series on TV.

Blast Will End U.S. And Mexico Border Dispute

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A dynamite blast set off by Presidents Johnson and Diaz Ordaz of Mexico diverts the Rio Grande and reshapes the U.S.-Mexico border today to end a century-old boundary fuss.

Dversion of the Rio Grande through a new concrete channel by the detonation ceremony on the Santa Fe International Bridge near El Paso completes return of 437 acres of land to Mexico.

The new boundary, which also divides the cities of El Paso and Juarez, is dedicated to former Mexico President Adolfo Lopez Mateos who reached agreement on its placement with the late President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

The dispute over the boundary through the dry, bush country of El Chamizal, dates back to a series of floods starting in 1852 that changed the Rio Grande's course.

Auto Hits, Kills Deer In Route 30 Accident

A Library (Pa.) motorist escaped injury when his car struck and killed a deer on Route 30 in Hanover Township Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

He swerved in an effort to avoid hitting the animal and the car went up an embankment. The car flipped and came to rest on its top.

Damages to the 1968 model were estimated at $3,400.

Pentagon Sets February Draft Call At 33,700

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Thursday called for the drafting of 33,700 men next February — the highest monthly quota in eight months.

The figure is up sharply from the 26,800 previously announced for January and more than double the average monthly draft requests during the last seven months of this year.

Manpower requests this year ranged as high as 48,000 in April and 45,900 in May.

The Pentagon recently said draft calls in 1969 would turn higher by about 3,000 men per month than otherwise would have been expected due to the planned early release of 20,000 Army Reserve and National Guard members who were called earlier this year.

Of the February draftees, 32,200 will go to the Army and 1,500 to the Marines. The Marine Corps, traditionally an all-volunteer outfit, already has taken in some 6,000 draftees this year.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Actors Are Just Like You And Me

Every once in awhile some dewy-eyed observer reports that the actors in Hollywood aren't really any different from your neighbors or mine.

Hal Humphrey

This is true — if, say, the couple in the 12-room house next to you look like a pair of hippies, have five children, two cheetahs (yes, live ones), a baby chimpanzee and an assortment of some 15 dogs and cats.

That, at any rate, is the physical setup at the homes of Bob Denver, who now plays Rufus Butterworth in a CBS-TV series called "The Good Guys."

ACTUALLY, Denver is still playing Maynard Krebs, the kooky friend in the old Dobie Gillis series starring Dwayne Hickman. Or he could say he is still doing Gilligan of "Gilligan's Island," the series of a season ago which ran for three years.

It was this sameness of his role and situation comedy on TV generally that I was going to talk about with Denver over a bit of lunch this week, but we never got to it.

"I'm sorry," said Denver's press agent, Mickey Freeman, as he came into the restaurant, "but I'm afraid he can't make it."

"WHY NOT?" I asked impatiently.

"You're right," I said. "Try again. I don't believe it."

Freeman, however, persistently stuck to his story and filled me in with the details. Denver's wife, Butchy, had brought Henry the chimp down to the studio along with two dogs. One dog was theirs, but the other belonged to a neighbor, who was traveling to New York with the Denvers' two cheetahs.

"Wait," I said, "did you say two cheetahs and New York?"

YES, that was right. You see Denver recently bought a 500-acre farm in the Catskills because, long before Frank Sinatra, Denver decided not to live in smoggy California any more.

And since Denver's neighbors were going to New York, they said they'd be happy to deliver the two cheetahs, so the Denvers wouldn't have to bother with them when they move the kids, cats and dogs and maybe Henry to the new farm next week.

The reason Henry the chimp is on the maybe list is that while Butchy was visiting her husband, Henry got into her purse and took some pain killer pills and passed out. In her haste to get Henry to the hospital, Butchy left the two dogs behind with Denver, who didn't feel he should leave them alone, especially since one of them wasn't even his, but his neighbor's.

"WHY CAN'T WE go to the studio, and I'll interview both Denver and the dogs?" I asked Freeman.

He thought that was a capital idea, but said he'd better phone the studio first to make sure Denver was still there. He wasn't, Denver's stand-in reported to Freeman. Butchy had called from the veterinarian's where Henry was getting his stomach pumped out, but it was touch-and-go, and she thought Denver should be there, too.

I wound up having lunch with Freeman. We discussed actors and how they really aren't any different from your neighbors or mine. When I got back to the office, I called Denver at his home. Not that I don't trust press agents, but I thought it only civil to inquire about Henry's health.

"WELL," replied Denver, "Henry's still out, but he moves once in awhile. He's only 11 months old, you know, and just like a baby. I'm sorry I couldn't meet you today, but you see how it is."

I told Denver I certainly understood how it is. We talked on a minute or two about the state of comedy on TV, but I could tell his heart wasn't in it. As he said, though, the main trouble is that nobody has any fresh ideas.

When Henry recovers, if he does, I'm going to suggest to Denver that he hit his writers with the idea of a comedian who lives with his wife, two cheetahs, five children, a baby chimpanzee and an assortment of some 15 dogs and cats and is moving to a farm in New York to escape the smog. It's silly enough to become a series on TV.

Blast Will End U.S. And Mexico Border Dispute

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A dynamite blast set off by Presidents Johnson and Diaz Ordaz of Mexico diverts the Rio Grande and reshapes the U.S.-Mexico border today to end a century-old boundary fuss.

Dversion of the Rio Grande through a new concrete channel by the detonation ceremony on the Santa Fe International Bridge near El Paso completes return of 437 acres of land to Mexico.

The new boundary, which also divides the cities of El Paso and Juarez, is dedicated to former Mexico President Adolfo Lopez Mateos who reached agreement on its placement with the late President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

The dispute over the boundary through the dry, bush country of El Chamizal, dates back to a series of floods starting in 1852 that changed the Rio Grande's course.

Auto Hits, Kills Deer In Route 30 Accident

He swerved in an effort to avoid hitting the animal and the car went up an embankment. The car flipped and came to rest on its top.

Damages to the 1968 model were estimated at $3,400.

Pentagon Sets February Draft Call At 33,700

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Thursday called for the drafting of 33,700 men next February — the highest monthly quota in eight months.

The figure is up sharply from the 26,800 previously announced for January and more than double the average monthly draft requests during the last seven months of this year.

Manpower requests this year ranged as high as 48,000 in April and 45,900 in May.

The Pentagon recently said draft calls in 1969 would turn higher by about 3,000 men per month than otherwise would have been expected due to the planned early release of 20,000 Army Reserve and National Guard members who were called earlier this year.

Of the February draftees, 32,200 will go to the Army and 1,500 to the Marines. The Marine Corps, traditionally an all-volunteer outfit, already has taken in some 6,000 draftees this year.

Private Refuse Haulers Cautioned On State Law

East Liverpool's 30 card-carrying private refuse haulers have been warned they must comply with a new state law, in addition to the usual city ordinances, when they apply for renewal of their permits for 1969.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, whose duty it is to issue licenses to the haulers, has prepared a form letter for each which points out the new Ohio Solid Waste Disposal Act which became effective July 1 will help govern their operations.

THE CITY will license a private hauler only if he disposes of the refuse in a site which has the approval of the Columbiana County Health Department, designated by the State Health Department tc license tracts in the county.

For the East Liverpool area, that means hauling the refuse to the city's landfill disposal site on the Y. & O. Rd. in Madison Township, because it is the only one in this end of the county due to be licensed.

Licensing of the trash disposal sites is required, effective Jan. 1. Wellsville already has been told its trash disposal tract will not be licensed. Wellsville is seeking to work out a leasing arrangement with East Liverpool under which its collection trucks will dispose of their loads at the Y. & O. Rd. site.

Vodrey pointed out that an applicant for a private hauler's permit must specify the location of the disposal site. If it is not licensed under the new state law, the city cannot issue the permit.

The applicant must list his name and address, along with his telephone number, and specify the type of truck he uses in his work — a "packer" body, a van type or an open truck. The form includes a reminder that city ordinances require all open-bodied trash trucks must be covered with a tarpaulin to prevent debris from scattering.

THE CITY issues three types of refuse haulers' licenses—one covering garbage only, another allowing rubbish hauling and a third covering both garbage and rubbish. The fee for the first two types is $5 a year, while the combination permit costs $10.

The licensed hauler is issued a wallet-size card color coded to indicate the type of refuse he may handle. The permit covering garbage only is pink, the license for trash hauling is green and the combination permit is indicated by a buff-colored card.

The applicant must stipulate his collection schedule and the area he serves. The form includes a reminder that violation of any of the ordinances relating to waste collection may constitute grounds for revocation of the permit.

The County Health Board has not issued permits yet for approved sites, but applicants should be certain at the time they file the form that they have listed a disposal tract which will be licensed, Vodrey's letter pointed out. All nonconforming sites must be closed, the state law requires.

THE CITY collects a fee for each truckload of garbage or trash deposited at the landfill site. If the refuse originated in East Liverpool, the charge is $2 for a 1½-ton truckload, $4 for a vehicle over 1½ tons and $6 for a load of over 2½ tons. If the refuse was hauled from a spot outside the city, the charges are $3 for a load of up to 1½ tons and $6 for a load in excess of that figure.

Commercial and industrial firms may haul their own refuse to the dump at fees varying from 50 cents to $4 per load, depending upon the size of the vehicle. There is no charge for a citizen of the city hauling refuse from his own household in his own conveyance.

The trash disposal ordinance contains a general provision against dumping or burying refuse or garbage anywhere in the city. It also prohibits disposal of waste by burning except "in a heating plant or incinerator so designed as to thoroughly consume the same without causing a nuisance of smoke, fly ash or offensive odors." The ordinance requires the heating plant or incinerator must be approved by the director.

Site Must Have Approval

Private Refuse Haulers Cautioned On State Law

East Liverpool's 30 card-carrying private refuse haulers have been warned they must comply with a new state law, in addition to the usual city ordinances, when they apply for renewal of their permits for 1969.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, whose duty it is to issue licenses to the haulers, has prepared a form letter for each which points out the new Ohio Solid Waste Disposal Act which became effective July 1 will help govern their operations.

THE CITY will license a private hauler only if he disposes of the refuse in a site which has the approval of the Columbiana County Health Department, designated by the State Health Department to license tracts in the county.

For the East Liverpool area, that means hauling the refuse to the city's landfill disposal site on the Y. & O. Rd. in Madison Township, because it is the only one in this end of the county due to be licensed.

Licensing of the trash disposal sites is required, effective Jan. 1. Wellsville already has been told its trash disposal tract will not be licensed. Wellsville is seeking to work out a leasing arrangement with East Liverpool under which its collection trucks will dispose of their loads at the Y. & O. Rd. site.

Vodrey pointed out that an applicant for a private hauler's permit must specify the location of the disposal site. If it is not licensed under the new state law, the city cannot issue the permit.

The applicant must list his name and address, along with his telephone number, and specify the type of truck he uses in his work — a "packer" body, a van type or an open truck. The form includes a reminder that city ordinances require all open-bodied trash trucks must be covered with a tarpaulin to prevent debris from scattering.

THE CITY issues three types of refuse haulers' licenses—one covering garbage only, another allowing rubbish hauling and a third covering both garbage and rubbish. The fee for the first two types is $5 a year, while the combination permit costs $10.

The licensed hauler is issued a wallet-size card color coded to indicate the type of refuse he may handle. The permit covering garbage only is pink, the license for trash hauling is green and the combination permit is indicated by a buff-colored card.

The applicant must stipulate his collection schedule and the area he serves. The form includes a reminder that violation of any of the ordinances relating to waste collection may constitute grounds for revocation of the permit.

The County Health Board has not issued permits yet for approved sites, but applicants should be certain at the time they file the form that they have listed a disposal tract which will be licensed, Vodrey's letter pointed out. All nonconforming sites must be closed, the state law requires.

THE CITY collects a fee for each truckload of garbage or trash deposited at the landfill site. If the refuse originated in East Liverpool, the charge is $2 for a 1½-ton truckload, $4 for a vehicle over 1½ tons and $6 for a load of over 2½ tons. If the refuse was hauled from a spot outside the city, the charges are $3 for a load of up to 1½ tons and $6 for a load in excess of that figure.

Commercial and industrial firms may haul their own refuse to the dump at fees varying from 50 cents to $4 per load, depending upon the size of the vehicle. There is no charge for a citizen of the city hauling refuse from his own household in his own conveyance.

The trash disposal ordinance contains a general provision against dumping or burying refuse or garbage anywhere in the city. It also prohibits disposal of waste by burning except "in a heating plant or incinerator so designed as to thoroughly consume the same without causing a nuisance of smoke, fly ash or offensive odors." The ordinance requires the heating plant or incinerator must be approved by the director.

Records

A truck driver credited with 13 and a fraction days drew $62.25. A laborer who worked a little more than six days was paid $26.50.

The payroll for the entire 33-man street department for the last half of January was $1,176. The men had taken a cut as the depression deepened. At the outset of 1932, a truck driver was drawing $5 and laborers were paid $4.75.

But there were no princely salaries anywhere in City Hall. Safety-Director John W. Moore drew $25 as a half month's pay, and J. P. Scott, a City Hall janitor, was paid $22.50.

THOSE RATES prevalled in January 1932. At the end of the year, like the other employes, the janitor and the director had taken pay cuts. The director was paid $18.75 on the payroll of Dec. 16, 1932, and the janitor drew $20.25.

The books date back to the 1920's. Most are records of cash receipts and disbursements in the safety-service director's office.

The dusty stacks represent history in the raw, but too many times the entries are so cryptic or so close to illegible that it is difficult to make any sense of them.

For instance, it would appear that one could have a deceased horse cremated for the small fee of $5. There's an entry in a 1926 ledger under the incinerator department's receipts that says: "Burning horse, $5." There's another which says: "Burning horses, $15." A third entry, dated July 25, 1927, says merely: "Burning horses, incinerator plant, $35."

The incinerator furnace was used at one time for disposing of dead domestic animals. Until recent years, it was listed in the telephone book as "city crematory," although by that time it was simply the headquarters of the trash and garbage collection crews.

THE OLD garbage furnace still pokes its long brick stack toward the sky at the foot of Washington St., but today it's used primarily for storage.

The ledgers show the service department made a big deal on horses in 1928, buying a team for $475. At the same time, there was an outlay of $125 for harness, $50 for a wagon and $10 for hay. Immediately afterward there's one of those cryptic entries, "Refund, insurance on horses, $11.63."

Indicative of the way the price index has risen in the last 40 years, there's an entry in 1928 that shows the city bought two sacks of cement for $1.10. And it sold a cubic yard of concrete to a citizen, apparently for sidewalk work, for $10.50.

A 1930 ledger indicates the street department operated a full year on an appropriation of $6,300. The entries show $1,000 allocated for payrolls, $1,000 for truck maintenance, $1,500 for materials, $300 for tools and $2,500 for "sewers and drains," including $1,500 for payrolls and $1,000 for materials.

The budget for operation and maintenance of the old City Hall that year was $2,140, with $540 for the janitor's salary, $1,000 for fuel, light and supplies, $300 for repairs and $300 for incidentals. That was four years before the present City Hall was constructed. It dates from 1934.

A LOT OF firms that are just fond memories were doing business with the city 38 years ago. The ledger for 1930 shows disbursements to the Goodwin Pottery Co., $12.10; the Buckeye Lumber Co., $2.-44, the Trotter Hardware Co., $45.40, the East Ohio Sand & Supply Co., $3.25, the Y. & O. Railway Co., $10.81 and the Joseph Betz Printing Co., $4.50.

The ledgers are full of entries listing cash received for rental or lease of city buildings and real estate.

For instance, A. W. Crawford & Co. was paying $5 per year to lease property — location unspecified — from 1924 through 1928. The Potters Supply Co. paid $5 per year on another lease in 1928 and 1929. The "Peter Milliron Lease, 1st St., yielded $5 per year. There was a "Diamond Parking Lot Lease" that produced $175 a month from April 5, 1923, to Oct. 31, 1925. The ledger shows the lessees paid $4,050 against a total debt to the city of $5,337, leaving $1,287 due.

ANOTHER entry shows the old Central fire station building was sold to P. Milliron on April 21, 1929, for $175. The book shows receipt of $225 on April 16, 1942, for a 1914 American - LaFrance aerial truck, model 12-E-2.

Back in 1926, the Independent Social Society was paying $15 a month rent for use of the second floor of the West End fire station. Ross Tisher was paying $75 a year at the same time for rent of the city wharf. And in 1935, Otto Kommel was giving the city $5 a month for rent of the Klondyke fire station.

The problem of prisoners destroying property in city jail was prevalent 26 years ago—as it is today, some of the entries show. There's a receipt dated Sept. 4, 1942, for $25 paid by a man who was blamed for a "broken commode in jail."

Many other entries list expenditures of the police department — and tolls they collected from prisoners for long distance telephone calls.

Another in the same year shows three outlays totaling $115 for "motorcycles," presumably for repairs or maintenance in the days when no self-respecting town — and East Liverpool was one of them — was without a snappy motorcycle cop in puttees and breeches to pinch the speeders.

The old ledgers are only part of the stack of records. There are hundreds of loose receipts, along with receipt books and the old affidavits, still in their filing jackets, that tell the story of cases heard in Municipal Court many years ago.

Brazil is more than half forest.

Recount Set Monday In Beaver Race

According to election results certified by the Board of Elections, Frank W. Springer, Democrat, holds a one - vote lead over Atty. Robert O. Davis, Republican incumbent.

Davis has asked for a recount in the First, Second, Third and Fifth districts of Midland, the First and Second in Brighton Township and the First and Second in Patterson Township.

Springer has asked for recounts in the Fourth district at Midland and all four polling places in Beaver.

The recount panel has been named, with Barbara Zapsic of Midland serving on the Democrat segment.

Meanwhile, the three Common Pleas Court judges have not rultd on a petition filed Tuesday by legal counsel for Springer that the judges disqualify themselves from ruling on 12 absentee ballots still in question.

President Judge Ralph F. Scalera and Judges James E. Rowley and John N. Sawyer are registered Republicans. In filing the petition, Springer's attorney cited various other reasons why his client feels the judges should disqualify themselves.

The court has not indicated when a ruling will be issued.

Probe Turns To Gambling

STEUBENVILLE—The Grand Jury probe into operations of the Jefferson County sheriff's office turned to gambling today when Prosecutor Dominick B. Olivito issued subpoenas for nine known gamblers.

The investigation had gone heavily into prostitution protection and financial operations of the sheriff's office headed by Richard P. Wells, but this morning was the first time gamblers had been brought before the jury.

Nine gambling stamp holders were called.

Misuse of county funds and protection of a house of prostitution in the northern part of the county were the previous charges brought against Wells by his brother-in-law, Kenneth Swiger of Toronto RD, a former special deputy under Wells.

The Grand Jury hearing is now two weeks old. The jurors were recalled Nov. 29.

A truck driver credited with 13 and a fraction days drew $62.25. A laborer who worked a little more than six days was paid $26.50.

The payroll for the entire 33-man street department for the last half of January was $1,176. The men had taken a cut as the depression deepened. At the outset of 1932, a truck driver was drawing $5 and laborers were paid $4.75.

But there were no princely salaries anywhere in City Hall. Safety-Director John W. Moore drew $25 as a half month's pay, and J. P. Scott, a City Hall janitor, was paid $22.50.

THOSE RATES prevalled in January 1932. At the end of the year, like the other employes, the janitor and the director had taken pay cuts. The director was paid $18.75 on the payroll of Dec. 16, 1932, and the janitor drew $20.25.

The books date back to the 1920's. Most are records of cash receipts and disbursements in the safety-service director's office.

The dusty stacks represent history in the raw, but too many times the entries are so cryptic or so close to illegible that it is difficult to make any sense of them.

For instance, it would appear that one could have a deceased horse cremated for the small fee of $5. There's an entry in a 1926 ledger under the incinerator department's receipts that says: "Burning horse, $5." There's another which says: "Burning horses, $15." A third entry, dated July 25, 1927, says merely: "Burning horses, incinerator plant, $35."

The incinerator furnace was used at one time for disposing of dead domestic animals. Until recent years, it was listed in the telephone book as "city crematory," although by that time it was simply the headquarters of the trash and garbage collection crews.

THE OLD garbage furnace still pokes its long brick stack toward the sky at the foot of Washington St., but today it's used primarily for storage.

The ledgers show the service department made a big deal on horses in 1928, buying a team for $475. At the same time, there was an outlay of $125 for harness, $50 for a wagon and $10 for hay. Immediately afterward there's one of those cryptic entries, "Refund, insurance on horses, $11.63."

Indicative of the way the price index has risen in the last 40 years, there's an entry in 1928 that shows the city bought two sacks of cement for $1.10. And it sold a cubic yard of concrete to a citizen, apparently for sidewalk work, for $10.50.

A 1930 ledger indicates the street department operated a full year on an appropriation of $6,300. The entries show $1,000 allocated for payrolls, $1,000 for truck maintenance, $1,500 for materials, $300 for tools and $2,500 for "sewers and drains," including $1,500 for payrolls and $1,000 for materials.

The budget for operation and maintenance of the old City Hall that year was $2,140, with $540 for the janitor's salary, $1,000 for fuel, light and supplies, $300 for repairs and $300 for incidentals. That was four years before the present City Hall was constructed. It dates from 1934.

A LOT OF firms that are just fond memories were doing business with the city 38 years ago. The ledger for 1930 shows disbursements to the Goodwin Pottery Co., $12.10; the Buckeye Lumber Co., $2.-44, the Trotter Hardware Co., $45.40, the East Ohio Sand & Supply Co., $3.25, the Y. & O. Railway Co., $10.81 and the Joseph Betz Printing Co., $4.50.

The ledgers are full of entries listing cash received for rental or lease of city buildings and real estate.

For instance, A. W. Crawford & Co. was paying $5 per year to lease property — location unspecified — from 1924 through 1928. The Potters Supply Co. paid $5 per year on another lease in 1928 and 1929. The "Peter Milliron Lease, 1st St., yielded $5 per year. There was a "Diamond Parking Lot Lease" that produced $175 a month from April 5, 1923, to Oct. 31, 1925. The ledger shows the lessees paid $4,050 against a total debt to the city of $5,337, leaving $1,287 due.

ANOTHER entry shows the old Central fire station building was sold to P. Milliron on April 21, 1929, for $175. The book shows receipt of $225 on April 16, 1942, for a 1914 American - LaFrance aerial truck, model 12-E-2.

Back in 1926, the Independent Social Society was paying $15 a month rent for use of the second floor of the West End fire station. Ross Tisher was paying $75 a year at the same time for rent of the city wharf. And in 1935, Otto Kommel was giving the city $5 a month for rent of the Klondyke fire station.

The problem of prisoners destroying property in city jail was prevalent 26 years ago—as it is today, some of the entries show. There's a receipt dated Sept. 4, 1942, for $25 paid by a man who was blamed for a "broken commode in jail."

Many other entries list expenditures of the police department — and tolls they collected from prisoners for long distance telephone calls.

Another in the same year shows three outlays totaling $115 for "motorcycles," presumably for repairs or maintenance in the days when no self-respecting town — and East Liverpool was one of them — was without a snappy motorcycle cop in puttees and breeches to pinch the speeders.

The old ledgers are only part of the stack of records. There are hundreds of loose receipts, along with receipt books and the old affidavits, still in their filing jackets, that tell the story of cases heard in Municipal Court many years ago.

Recount Set Monday In Beaver Race

According to election results certified by the Board of Elections, Frank W. Springer, Democrat, holds a one - vote lead over Atty. Robert O. Davis, Republican incumbent.

Davis has asked for a recount in the First, Second, Third and Fifth districts of Midland, the First and Second in Brighton Township and the First and Second in Patterson Township.

Springer has asked for recounts in the Fourth district at Midland and all four polling places in Beaver.

The recount panel has been named, with Barbara Zapsic of Midland serving on the Democrat segment.

Meanwhile, the three Common Pleas Court judges have not rultd on a petition filed Tuesday by legal counsel for Springer that the judges disqualify themselves from ruling on 12 absentee ballots still in question.

President Judge Ralph F. Scalera and Judges James E. Rowley and John N. Sawyer are registered Republicans. In filing the petition, Springer's attorney cited various other reasons why his client feels the judges should disqualify themselves.

The court has not indicated when a ruling will be issued.

Probe Turns To Gambling

STEUBENVILLE—The Grand Jury probe into operations of the Jefferson County sheriff's office turned to gambling today when Prosecutor Dominick B. Olivito issued subpoenas for nine known gamblers.

The investigation had gone heavily into prostitution protection and financial operations of the sheriff's office headed by Richard P. Wells, but this morning was the first time gamblers had been brought before the jury.

Nine gambling stamp holders were called.

Misuse of county funds and protection of a house of prostitution in the northern part of the county were the previous charges brought against Wells by his brother-in-law, Kenneth Swiger of Toronto RD, a former special deputy under Wells.

The Grand Jury hearing is now two weeks old. The jurors were recalled Nov. 29.

Youth Is Injured In Attack Here

An 18 - year - old youth was treated at City Hospital early today for injuries he said were suffered when two unidentified young men attacked him without provocation as he walked on St. Clair Ave. near Walnut St.

One of the men struck him in the face with his right arm, which was encased in a cast, and then kicked him in the side when he fell to the pavement. Edward James Harper of 525 Walnut St. told Patrolman Bruce Conkle. He is a jockey at Waterford Park.

Harper told officers the attack occurred at 12:15 as he was accosted by three young men. Only two joined in the attack, he said. He said he never had seen the pair before and could give no reason why they would assault him.

Banner Industries Eyes Trucking Firm Purchase

An agreement in principle for the acquisition of Commercial Motor Freight Inc., was announced today by Banner Industries, Inc., parent corporation of Patterson Industries of East Liverpool.

Commercial Motor Freight, with headquarters in Columbus, is a major trucking firm with operations in Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania. The privately owned company earned $851,427 on operating revenues of $24,491,754 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1967.

Net income from operations for the 10 four - week periods ended Oct. 5, 1968, amounted to $882,080 on revenues of $21,207,150, up from the $607,060 earned on operating revenues of $18,501,323 for the comparable period in 1967.

The company operates more than 600 tractors and trucks, and 1,000 trailers. It has 23 terminals in major cities including Columbus, Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Cincinnati, Dayton, Canton and Fort Wayne, with direct service to over 1,000 points.

Samuel J. Krasney, chairman and chief executive officer of Banner, said Commercial Motor Freight would continue to be operated under the company's present policies and management, headed by S. M. Bostic, president.

The acquisition is scheduled for completion in January.

"The move would be in keeping with our announced policy of expansion in areas in which we are now established as well as into new areas which we believe have considerd growth potential," Krasney said.

Th acquisition of Commercial Motor Freight would be the fourth announced by Banner in the last eight months. Last month, plans for the acquisition of Misceramic Tile, Inc., Cleveland, Miss., manufacturer of floor, wall and decorative tiles, were announced. The proposal, approved by directors of Misceramic Tile which has an annual volume of $2,500,000, is subject to approval of Misceramic Tile shareholders.

Last July Banner acquired Progressive Welder Canada Limited, manufacturer of welding equipment, and last April Unitane Corporation, manufacturer of blow-molded polyethylene containers.

Cleveland - based Banner Industries is a diversified manufacturer of products for industry. It earned $561,602, or 16 cents a share, on sales of $17,350,458 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1968.

Banner is a manufacturer of processing equipment for the chemical, pharmaceutical, plastics, rubber and allied industries, steam engines, centrifugal pumps, mechanical drive steam and gas expander turbines, water works and industrial valves, engineered containers, and welding equipment. It also operates four retail discount stores.

The present Banner Industries is the result of a merger last January of Banner and Patterson Industries, Inc. at which time the management of Patterson Industries assumed direction of the company.

ANN LANDERS

'Til They're Gone

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to the girl who was complaining about her pesty, pain-in-the-neck kid brother, age 11. She said he was driving her cuckoo and she didn't think she could last four years until she went away to college.

Tell her I was in her spot eight years ago. I was 12 then and he was 10. I came close to writing to you a half dozen times to ask for help. My brother was an awful pest and a tease and at times I was sure I hated him.

Last week that "awful pest" left for Vietnam. I never realized how much he meant to me until I had to say goodby to him. All the petty squabbles suddenly seemed terribly unimportrait. I felt ashamed of having been so impatient and stupid. I realize now he was a normal kid who enjoyed attention and loved mischief.

Please, Ann, tell all the older sisters who are now suffering with pesty kid brothers that before they know it those little bratty brothers will be grown up and they'll wish they could live those days over again. — BUD'S SIS.

Dear Sis: You told them — and in a way I never could. Thank you dear.

Her Choice

Dear Ann: Last month our beloved uncle died. He was laid out in the living room of his home, in front of the picture windows.

The following day he was taken 200 miles away to be buried in his wife's family cemetery. I've seen this cemetery and it's right in the middle of a cornfield. Nobody bothers to keep it up and it makes me sick to think of our loving kin out there in all those weeds and brambles.

Our whole family is upset about this and we wonder if there's anything we can do to get our dear uncle moved back here where we give him the proper care and attention. — CONCERNED FAMILY.

Dear Family: I trust you gave your dear uncle the proper care and attention when he was alive. That's the only kind a person benefits from.

His wife has the right to choose his final resting place unless he made a special request in his will. If she wants him in the cornfield, that's where he should be.

Lost Cause

Dear Ann: You're going to decide this. I'm sick of opinions from relatives who don't know their elbows from third base.

I went with Pete for two years. We were officially engaged for 11 months. He suddenly called off the whole thing, saying he wasn't ready to get married.

My parents lost the $250 deposit on the hall. I spent more than $100 on honeymoon-style nightgowns and other frilly stuff that isn't worth a hoot now.

This was four months ago and yesterday the low-life skunk asked for his ring. I said, "NO." He said he's seeing a lawyer. What should I do? — LIVID.

Dear Liv: His lawyer will tell him that when a man breaks the engagement the girl is entitled to the ring. But why on earth would you want it? I should think you'd be happy to get rid of anything that reminded you of the creep.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Children Of Cabinet Members, Too

Nixon, LBJ Daughters Escort Cabinet On Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — They were brought to the White House by a daughter of the president-elect and conducted through it by a daughter of the President.

They sat in the speaker's chair in the House of Representatives and were greeted at the Federal Bureau of Investigations by J. Edgar Hoover.

It was, all in all, far from a typical tour as children—of practically all ages—of the newly designated Cabinet members followed the tourist paths through Washington Thursday.

"I wanted to get all the Cabinet children together," she explained. "But the tour was Daddy's idea."

The group of 33—it dwindled throughout the day—rolled up to the White House aboard a bus, and Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent was there to meet them.

"It was quite a surprise when she met us, she was very gracious to be there," said Tricia who had not been in the White House since her father left the office of vice president eight years ago.

Serving as guide with the help of the curator's staff, Mrs. Luci Nugent provided both historical and personal recollections of her years in the White House.

"This can be the loneliest house in the world but if you want it to be, it can be the most rewarding time of your life," she said.

What did the guests think of the White House? "It looks like it's glad to see you instead of being snobbish," said 10-year-old Jim Hardin, whose father will be secretary of agriculture.

Ronna Romney, daughter-in-law of Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who will be secretary of housing and urban development, said she was impressed that "Luci Johnson took the trouble to show us around."

Daughter of Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California, who will be secretary of health, education and welfare, Priscilla said she was not worried about moving from Sacramento.

"We move every four years on the average, anyway. If we don't, we get bored," she said.

When the tourists reached the Capitol they were led onto the House floor by chief doorkeeper William "Fishbait" Miller, who made one of the few mistakes of the day.

Miller, introducing himself to Jim Hardin, said, "Your daddy is secretary of labor."

Young Hardin stuck to his guns and responded, no, "agriculture."

At the FBI, Miss Nixon winced as a guide told how John Dillinger cut his fingertips and poured battery acid on them in hopes of erasing his fingerprints.

One of the most eloquent reactions of the day was from 6-year-old Carl Hickle, whose father will be interior secretary, as he walked into Statutory Hall in the Capitol with an older brother: "Gee, whiz, Joe."

Robert Frost wrote poetry from boyhood but his first book, "A Boy's Will," was not published until he was 38.

New Foreign Minister Changed Mind

Italian Official Once Said NATO Would Start War

ROME (AP) — Petro Nenni, Italy's leading Socialist and its new foreign minister, once admired Stalin's sense of humor, predicted that the North Atlantic Pact would provoke war and urged diplomatic relations with Red China.

Since then the Socialist party giant has changed his mind about all these things—and more.

Christian Democratic leader Mariano Rumor named Nenni Italy's foreign policy voice in the new center-left Cabinet Rumor announced Thursday night. The regime is dedicated to keeping the Communists out of the government, but for almost half the years since World War II Nenni led his party in unity with communism.

Italian President Giuseppe Saragat, also a Socialist, once called Nenni a stooge of the Reds. But Nenni and communism came to an abrupt parting in 1956, when Russia crushed the Hungarian revolution.

Nenni sent back the Stalin Peace Prize he had won and turned the prize money over to the Red Cross.

From then on he argued, browbeat and hauled his faction-ridden party onto the long, hard road back into the Italian government and alliance with the Christian Democrat against communism.

Repeatedly revolts threatened his leadership. Several times he resigned. Once he said sadly: "I am a beaten man."

But he was his party's golden orator. Each time he talked his way back to power.

His appointment as foreign minister in Italy's 29th postwar government completes the circle. He was foreign minister in the first postwar government, an all-party regime headed by Alcide de Gasperi.

Now less than two months from his 78th birthday, the old Socialist warrior is egg-bald, stoop-shouldered and weak-eyed.

Last February he underwent a prostate operation. Six years ago he slipped and fell into an icy alpine stream, hitting his head on a rock. He remained near death for several weeks.

Nenni led the Socialist Brigade in the Spanish Civil War. He was jailed in 1911 for opposing Italy's adventures in Libya. Mussolini threw him in prison three times and he was imprisoned once by the Nazi Gestapo.

Despite his longtime leftist political record and former Communist ties, Nenni tells the time with Pope John XXIII's old gold watch. Pope John had received him in audience, and Pope Paul gave him the watch after Pope John died.

Hearings Slated In Zone Changes

The City Planning Commission is scheduled to conduct public hearings Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Council chamber at City Hall on two requests to change the zoning classification of East End properties from residential to business use.

The applications were received by the commission Nov. 12 from Claude and Esther Herring of 1055 Mapletree St. and Mrs. Vincent Gerace of 851 Ohio Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Herring asked a change from R-3 (medium high density residential) to B-4 (highway or general business) for Lot 1811 in the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Addition. Mrs. Gerace's application covers property at 846 St. George St. known as Lot 1435 in the Thompson and Hill Addition. She also asks a change in the classification from R-3 to B-4.

The commission said it was advised in each case that the changes are sought to permit establishment of pet-grooming businesses.

On the Centigrade scale, absolute zero is designated by a temperature of 273 degrees below zero. Absolute zero is 460 degrees below zero on the Fahrenheit scale.

Not only did this figure lead the league, it was the best in the AL since Walter Johnson's 1.49 mark in 1919. Sam McDowell, who was runner up to Tiant with a 1.81 ERA, led the league with 283 strikeouts and 110 walks. Tiant led the loop with 9 shutouts.

The two no-hit pitchers, Tom Phoebus of the Orioles and Jim (Catfish) Hunter of the A's, both ended with .500 records. Hunter, whose no-hitter was a perfect game, yielded the most earned runs in the league.

BOB STARKEY, former Oak Glen football, basketball and track coach, is off to a rocky start as head basketball coach at Shepherd St. Shepherd has dropped its first six games, the latest loss being 100-82 to Wheeling Wednesday night. John Roach, former Oak Glen cager, got seven points in that game.

LOU ANGOTTI, Pittsburgh Penguin center who was obtained in a trade from Philadelphia during the off-season, reports he was glad to get out of Philadelphia, but blasts Pittsburgh fans for getting on the team for mistakes. Angotti says that the Penguins do better on the road because of the unsympathetic home folks.

NOT TOO many schools names begin with the letter Q. So it was a real rarity to see among Tuesday's basketball scores one involving two Q. teams. Quaker Valley beat Quigley 72-40. Quigley is coached by John Dudo, former Western Beaver mentor.

A GROUP OF fans in Massillon is circulating petitions asking for the resignation of football coach Bob Seaman. In three years Seaman posted a 20-9-1 mark, not bad by most standards, but the worst at Massillon since 1928-31.

Bulldogs Visit BL Tomorrow

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Including the two East Liverpool contests, there are 15 high school basketball games in the area over the weekend, plus the St. Clairsville branch of Ohio U. at the East Liverpool Kent State branch tonight.

Beaver Local is home twice, while Midland, Wellsville and Oak Glen are all active tonight. There are 10 games tonight and six tomorrow, including an afternoon contest that sees South Side Beaver hosting Ft. Cherry.

The local Kent Staters, desperately in need of a big man, look for their first win after five losses. St. Clairsville dropped its first four games, so there is hope. John Coyne, a teammate of Allen Hornyak at Bellaire St. John's last season, paces St. Clairsville. Mike Piatt is averaging 19.0, Jim Reese 16.2, Nick Lukacena 12.0 and Mark Powell 11.8 for the locals.

Midland, looking for its fourth win in a row, goes against a new foe, Butler of Section 3. The Golden Tornadoes finished dead last in that powerful league last season, and are 1-2 so far this year, topping Kiski Area 75-62 and losing to Kittanning 76-70 and Rochester 71-55. Greg Vanlier at 16.0 and Bob Bynum at 13.0 and Ed Olkowski's five.

Wellsville, 2-1, is also at home, with Lisbon, 0-1, the opposition. Jim Courtney, Lee Smith and Jim Taylor lead the Blue Devils ,while John Bobalik, Joe D'Angelo and Bill Miller are the leading scorers for the Tigers.

Beaver Local takes on Toronto tonight and East Palestine tomorrow night. The Red Knights, under new coach Rudy Yaksick, upset favored Springfield 56-54 in overtime, topped Mingo 66-47 and fell to Steubenville Central 67-44. The Beavers, 1-2, lost to Wellsville and North Lima before defeating Crestview. The game is a Buckeye Border Conference clash. Dave Mason and Bob Flint pace the Beavers.

East Palestine must play Youngstown Cardinal Mooney at home Friday before traveling to the Beavers' den Saturday. The Bulldogs have dropped their first two games, 58-54 to West Branch and 94-76 to Springfield Local. Joe Lewis, Terry Lipp and Ted Reeves are the top scorers for East Palestine. Cardinal Mooney is 1-1, losing to Salem 79-59 and downing Struthers 51-47.

Oak Glen, 1-2, travels to Wellsburg for its first away game of the season. The Bears topped South Side before falling to Pittsburgh Langley and Weirton. Jim Carnes, at 13.7, paces Jack McDevitt's team. Wellsburg lost to Wheeling 68-63 and whipped Bethany 93-55.

Western Beaver, 0-3, travels to Riverside, 1-2. The Panthers, in their first year under Bill Melfi, beat Richmond 68-53 while losing to New Brighton 61-47 and Mercer 60-57. The Golden Beavers are averaging only 32.3 points a game.

United Local, 1-1, is on the road twice, at Southern Local, 0-4, and Columbiana, 0-3. Jack Mills is scoring 25.0 points a game for his father's team, while Steve Cope is adding 13.0. The Eagles nipped Leetonia 64-62 after falling to Sebring 62-51.

Columbiana has fallen to West Branch, Carrollton and North Lima, the first two by two points each. Frank Ringel is hitting 13.0 to pace Rich Berryman's team.

Crestview, 3-1, journeys to North Lima Friday night and then hosts Lisbon on Saturday. The Rebels are getting balanced scoring from Keith Chamberlin, Ron Athey and Roger Chellis. North Lima, 4-0, relies on 6-6 Bill McMeans, averaging over 30 points a game. Both teams beat Western Reserve, but the Zips tripped Beaver Local and Crestvew fell to the Beavers.

Stanton, 1-2, entertains Springfield, 2-1, Saturday night. Beside the loss to Toronto, the Flying Tigers have thumped Jefferson Union and edged Southern Local. Stanton whipped Southern between losses to Brilliant and Mt. Pleasant. Dave Olesky at 24.5 and Tim Logan at 15.7 lead Dave Murray's Red Raiders. Jack McConnaughy paces Bob Raber's Tigers.

South Side, 1-4, has a chance against Ft. Cherry, 1-2. Turnovers have hurt the Rams of John Nace so far. Doug Williamson at 13.8 and Dan McNary at 11.6 are the leading scorers. Ft. Cherry nipped Washington Immaculate Conception 66-65 between losses to Avonworth 95-56 and Trinity 64-51. The JV game starts at 1, with the varsity contest scheduled for 2:30.

Browns Favored

Packers Pick Over Bears; KC, Oakland Favored

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's the last roundup for the old Hand picker with four big games on the calendar for the final weekend of the regular pro seasons.

If you think the first 99 games between the Chicago Bears and Green Bay were rough, wait until they meet Sunday in No. 100 at Wrigley Field. The Packers are dead but they would like nothing more than to ruin the Bears' bid for the Central Division title.

A Bear victory would send them into a Dec. 22 playoff at Baltimore for the Western Conference title but a loss would let Minnesota get another shot at the Colts, providing they can handle Philadelphia.

If Kansas City wins at Denver Saturday and Oakland wins at San Diego Sunday, they finish in a tie for the West in the AFL, setting up a playoff Dec. 22 at Oakland. If one falters, the other will get the job of facing the New York Jets for the league crown Dec. 29 at New York.

Last week's 10-3 made the season record 108-42-5 with 65-27-4 in the NFL and 43-15-1 in the AFL. Last chance. All games Sunday, unless otherwise noted.

NFL

Cleveland 31, St. Louis 24—(Saturday)—Figured to be the decider, now just another game. Browns without Leroy Kelly will be trying to stay healthy for Dallas next week. Favored Cards can shoot the works. But Browns have eight-game win streak going and would like to get even for 27-21 loss to St. Louis.

Minnesota 24, Philadelphia 17 — Vikings have too much defense for Eagles, who are Minnesota's Joe Kapp turned in one of his best efforts against 49ers and the club should be sky high for the most important game in its history. Vikings won pre-season game 52-10.

Green Bay 21, Chicago 16 — It all depends on Bart Starr. If he can play, the Packers should get even for 13-10 loss Nov. 3 on Mac Percival's free kick field goal. Bears must grind it out on ground and go for the field goal. A real hard-knocker. It will be Auld Lang Syne for many Packers and they don't want to go out with a loss.

Baltimore 24, Los Angeles 6- Another super duper wiped out by last Sunday's results. Rams are out of it now but anxious to prove they belonged. Colts haven't given up touchdown in four games, want to show earlier 27-10 win was no mistake. Roman Gabriel coming off a mild concussion.

Dallas 28, New York 17- Tom Landry never will let Cowboys lose twice in same season to an Eastern Conference club. Giants will go all out to try to salvage final win. Fran Tarkenton pulled it off once, 27-21 but you don't do that to Dallas twice.

Washington 21, Detroit 14- Sonny Jurgensen is listed as questionable because of bruised back and ribs. Bob Otto Graham and Joe Schmidt on hot seat, need closing win to protect jobs. Best advice—forget it.

New Orleans 23, Pittsburgh 21- Saints optimistic about repeating earlier 16-12 win over Steelers. Could be last chance for Coach Bill Austin at Pittsburgh. Charlie Durkees kicking may be decisive again.

San Francisco 24, Atlanta 10- A nightmare year for Falcons, who were shipped in San Francisco 28-13 in September. John Brodie should shred Atlanta pass defense.

AFL

Kansas City 27, Denver 10 (Saturday)- Chiefs beat Broncos 34-2, in September and don't figure to be derailed with title within reach. Kansas City played ball control against San Diego in 40-3 romp last week, picking off seven passes. It will be run for your life, Marlin Briscoe.

Oakland 28, San Diego 14- Raiders won their exhibition game in August 31-7 but Chargers snapped their 14-game win streak in October 23-14. If Chiefs win Saturday, Raiders must win Sunday to force a Dec. 22 playoff at Oakland. Raiders have better balance and should make life tough for John Hadl.

Houston 24, Boston 7- Oilers need win to wrap up second place in East. Pats, beaten 38-7 in Miami, facing major shakeup in off season.

New York 31, Miami 21- Jets' pride will make them put out enough to finish with a win although Dolphins gave them trouble two weeks ago before succumbing 35-27. Joe Namath and Babe Parilli will share the load and Emerson Boozer gets a workout.

Buffalo and Cincinnati finished last week.

VPI, Mississippi Play In Liberty Tomorrow

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

College football's bowl season opens full blast Saturday when atonement-minded Virginia Tech squares off against explosive Mississippi in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.—the first of more than a dozen major bowl games during the next four weeks.

Virginia Tech, 7-3, will be trying to avenge its 1966 Liberty Bowl loss to Miami, and possibly present Coach Jerry Claiborne a farewell gift. He's considered a top candidate for coaching vacancies at Kentucky or Baylor.

Mississippi rode the arms and legs of sensational sophomore quarterback Archie Manning to a 6-3-1 mark this season.

"Manning can run and pass, and rolls out with the ball," said Claiborne. "Mississippi has a lot of receivers, and about the time they lull you to sleep with Manning's running and passing they give the ball to Steve Hindman or Bo Bowen . . . and they can go."

A crowd of 50,000 is expected for the 12:15 p.m., EST, regionally televised game (ABC-TV).

Meanwhile, North Dakota State, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' final small college poll, tackles Arkansas State in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex.—one of four NCAA college division championships to be decided Saturday.

The others are Fresno State, Calif, vs. Humboldt State, Calif. in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.; Louisiana Tech vs. Akron in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Indiana University, Pa. vs. Delaware in the indoor Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J. All four games will be televised regionally (ABC-TV).

Wichita Upsets Iowa

Toledo Cagers Thump Unbeaten W. Kentucky

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Toledo Rockets, a disappointment last season, are out to redeem themselves in college basketball this campaign.

Bob Miller and Steve Mix combined for 53 points to lead the Rockets to a decisive 88-65 victory over 15th-ranked Western Kentucky in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

"We have four seniors who were 23-1 as sophomores, but fell to 16-8 last year," said Bob Nichols, Toledo coach. "They're out to prove something this season.

"Everything went right for us, but we won't know how good we are until we play 10th-ranked St. Bonaventure Saturday night."

Miller scored 28 points and Mix 25 as the Mid-American Conference club overwhelmed the Hilltoppers from the Ohio Valley Conference. It was Western Kentucky's first defeat after five wins at home.

"We particularly hate to lose in the big city," Oldham went on. "Our tonsils are sore from looking up at these big buildings."

Jim McDaniels, the Hilltoppers' 7-foot soph, tallied 16 points and fouled out midway of the second half. Jerome Perry was high with 24 points. Rutgers crushed St. Louis 91-67 behind Dick Stewart's 30 points in the first Garden game.

Ron Washington also scored 30 points in leading Wichita State to a surprise 93-88 home court victory over Iowa. Washington got the go-ahead basket with less than two minutes to play after John Johnson's layup had tied the score for the Hawkeyes at 87-87.

It was Wichita's first victory and the first defeat for the 19th-ranked Hawkeyes. Western Kentucky and Iowa were the only teams in The Associated Press top 20 to see action.

Colorado continued to impress with a 112-81 rout of Arizona State at Boulder. Cliff Meely's 22 points paced the Buffaloes, who now boast a 5-1 record.

Not only did this figure lead the league, it was the best in the AL since Walter Johnson's 1.49 mark in 1919. Sam McDowell, who was runner up to Tiant with a 1.81 ERA, led the league with 283 strikeouts and 110 walks. Tiant led the loop with 9 shutouts.

The two no-hit pitchers, Tom Phoebus of the Orioles and Jim (Catfish) Hunter of the A's, both ended with .500 records. Hunter, whose no-hitter was a perfect game, yielded the most earned runs in the league.

BOB STARKEY, former Oak Glen football, basketball and track coach, is off to a rocky start as head basketball coach at Shepherd St. Shepherd has dropped its first six games, the latest loss being 100-82 to Wheeling Wednesday night. John Roach, former Oak Glen cager, got seven points in that game.

LOU ANGOTTI, Pittsburgh Penguin center who was obtained in a trade from Philadelphia during the off-season, reports he was glad to get out of Philadelphia, but blasts Pittsburgh fans for getting on the team for mistakes. Angotti says that the Penguins do better on the road because of the unsympathetic home folks.

NOT TOO many schools names begin with the letter Q. So it was a real rarity to see among Tuesday's basketball scores one involving two Q. teams. Quaker Valley beat Quigley 72-40. Quigley is coached by John Dudo, former Western Beaver mentor.

A GROUP OF fans in Massillon is circulating petitions asking for the resignation of football coach Bob Seaman. In three years Seaman posted a 20-9-1 mark, not bad by most standards, but the worst at Massillon since 1928-31.

Bulldogs Visit BL Tomorrow

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Including the two East Liverpool contests, there are 15 high school basketball games in the area over the weekend, plus the St. Clairsville branch of Ohio U. at the East Liverpool Kent State branch tonight.

Beaver Local is home twice, while Midland, Wellsville and Oak Glen are all active tonight. There are 10 games tonight and six tomorrow, including an afternoon contest that sees South Side Beaver hosting Ft. Cherry.

The local Kent Staters, desperately in need of a big man, look for their first win after five losses. St. Clairsville dropped its first four games, so there is hope. John Coyne, a teammate of Allen Hornyak at Bellaire St. John's last season, paces St. Clairsville. Mike Piatt is averaging 19.0, Jim Reese 16.2, Nick Lukacena 12.0 and Mark Powell 11.8 for the locals.

Midland, looking for its fourth win in a row, goes against a new foe, Butler of Section 3. The Golden Tornadoes finished dead last in that powerful league last season, and are 1-2 so far this year, topping Kiski Area 75-62 and losing to Kittanning 76-70 and Rochester 71-55. Greg Vanlier at 16.0 and Bob Bynum at 13.0 and Ed Olkowski's five.

Wellsville, 2-1, is also at home, with Lisbon, 0-1, the opposition. Jim Courtney, Lee Smith and Jim Taylor lead the Blue Devils ,while John Bobalik, Joe D'Angelo and Bill Miller are the leading scorers for the Tigers.

Beaver Local takes on Toronto tonight and East Palestine tomorrow night. The Red Knights, under new coach Rudy Yaksick, upset favored Springfield 56-54 in overtime, topped Mingo 66-47 and fell to Steubenville Central 67-44. The Beavers, 1-2, lost to Wellsville and North Lima before defeating Crestview. The game is a Buckeye Border Conference clash. Dave Mason and Bob Flint pace the Beavers.

East Palestine must play Youngstown Cardinal Mooney at home Friday before traveling to the Beavers' den Saturday. The Bulldogs have dropped their first two games, 58-54 to West Branch and 94-76 to Springfield Local. Joe Lewis, Terry Lipp and Ted Reeves are the top scorers for East Palestine. Cardinal Mooney is 1-1, losing to Salem 79-59 and downing Struthers 51-47.

Oak Glen, 1-2, travels to Wellsburg for its first away game of the season. The Bears topped South Side before falling to Pittsburgh Langley and Weirton. Jim Carnes, at 13.7, paces Jack McDevitt's team. Wellsburg lost to Wheeling 68-63 and whipped Bethany 93-55.

Western Beaver, 0-3, travels to Riverside, 1-2. The Panthers, in their first year under Bill Melfi, beat Richmond 68-53 while losing to New Brighton 61-47 and Mercer 60-57. The Golden Beavers are averaging only 32.3 points a game.

United Local, 1-1, is on the road twice, at Southern Local, 0-4, and Columbiana, 0-3. Jack Mills is scoring 25.0 points a game for his father's team, while Steve Cope is adding 13.0. The Eagles nipped Leetonia 64-62 after falling to Sebring 62-51.

Columbiana has fallen to West Branch, Carrollton and North Lima, the first two by two points each. Frank Ringel is hitting 13.0 to pace Rich Berryman's team.

Crestview, 3-1, journeys to North Lima Friday night and then hosts Lisbon on Saturday. The Rebels are getting balanced scoring from Keith Chamberlin, Ron Athey and Roger Chellis. North Lima, 4-0, relies on 6-6 Bill McMeans, averaging over 30 points a game. Both teams beat Western Reserve, but the Zips tripped Beaver Local and Crestvew fell to the Beavers.

Stanton, 1-2, entertains Springfield, 2-1, Saturday night. Beside the loss to Toronto, the Flying Tigers have thumped Jefferson Union and edged Southern Local. Stanton whipped Southern between losses to Brilliant and Mt. Pleasant. Dave Olesky at 24.5 and Tim Logan at 15.7 lead Dave Murray's Red Raiders. Jack McConnaughy paces Bob Raber's Tigers.

South Side, 1-4, has a chance against Ft. Cherry, 1-2. Turnovers have hurt the Rams of John Nace so far. Doug Williamson at 13.8 and Dan McNary at 11.6 are the leading scorers. Ft. Cherry nipped Washington Immaculate Conception 66-65 between losses to Avonworth 95-56 and Trinity 64-51. The JV game starts at 1, with the varsity contest scheduled for 2:30.

Montreal Hands Blues Second Loss In 2 Games

By The Associated Press

St. Louis is learning how the other half lives.

The expansionist Blues went through 13 National Hockey League games—one full month—between defeats and had the best goals against mark in the league.

But that all changed in 4 hours with the Blues absorbing consecutive losses—the latest a 5-4 decision at Montreal Thursday night.

In Thursday' other NHL action, Toronto shut out Philadelphia 1-0 and Oakland blanked Detroit 6-0.

Despite the 11 goals allowed in two games, the Blues' total of 62 surrendered for the season matches Boston for the league lead.

St. Louis fought the good fight against the Canadiens, battling from behind. But two goals by Henri Richard put Montreal in front to stay.

The Canadiens opened a four-point lead over idle New York and Boston in the East Division race. Craig Cameron scored twice for the Blues, who still lead the West Division by eight points over idle Los Angeles.

The Blues held a 2-1 edge and had just fought off a two-man Montreal advantage when Richard scored the tying goal with seven seconds left in the first period. Then the veteran center scored the go-ahead goal early in the second period and Gilles Tremblay made it 4-2.

St. Louis battled back in the final period but the Canadiens checked the rally and hung on to the victory.

Toronto got airtight goaltending from Johnny Bower and extended Philadelphia's winless string to 10 games. The 44-year-old Bower kicked out 27 shots for his second shutout in eight games this season.

It was the fifth time this season the punchless Flyers have been shut out.

Goalie Gary Smith and rookie Norm Ferguson triggered Oakland's blanking of Detroit. Smith chalked up his second shutout in the Seals' last three starts while Ferguson produced a pair of goals in Oakland's four-goal barrage in the second period.

Ted Hampson also contributed a goal and three assists for the Seals, who moved to within a point of second-place Los Angeles in the West Division. The Wings, who lost to Los Angeles Wednesday night, fell deeper into the East Division cellar.

Gary Jarrett and Billy Hicke collected the other goals for the Seals, who drilled 40 shots at Detroit netminder Roger Crozier. The Red Wings had 24 shots on the Oakland goal without success.

Steubenville Wins Thriller Over Westgate

The visitors jumped off to a 10-4 first period lead and never lost it. It was 45-44 and Westgate had the ball with nine seconds to go, but threw it away.

Mike Headley had 19 points and Jim Tipton 11 for the losers. Westgate hit 6 of 21 fouls, Steubenville 11 of 32.

Wilhelm Sets 9 Records

By HARRY EISENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Old Man River could take a pointer or two from Hoyt Wilhelm when it comes to rolling along.

The rubber-armed 45-year-old relief specialist accounted for six major league records and three American League records this past season, according to figures released today by Joe Cronin, American League president.

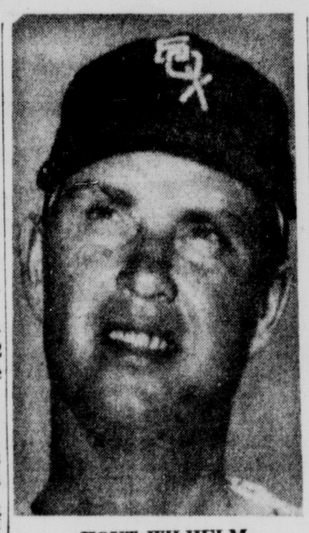
Wilhelm, now with the California Angels appeared in 72 games for the Chicago White Sox in 1968.

His contributions to the major league record section were: most consecutive errorless games for a pitcher (319), most games as a relief pitcher (885), most career victories in relief (111), most games finished in career (587), most innings pitched in relief (1,664) and most games pitched (937).

The right-hander also extended three of his own league records. They were: most games finished (404), most games as a relief pitcher (526) and most games won as a relief pitcher (68).

In all, American Leaguers broke or tied 105 sundry marks in 1968.

Eight of those are credited to huge Frank Howard of the Washington Senators, who set major league records for most home runs in one week (10), most home runs in five consecutive games (8) and most home runs in six consecutive games (10).



HOYT WILHELM
Traded To Angels.

Howard, who led the league in home runs with 44, also set a league record for most home runs in four consecutive games (7), and tied another loop mark for most consecutive games hitting a home run (6).

In records not quite as impressive, Howard broke the major league mark for most consecutive years 100 or more strikeouts (7), and tied records for fewest stolen bases (0), and fewest times caught stealing (0).

Detroit's Eddie Mathews, who announced his retirement after 17 big league seasons, established major league marks for most games as a third baseman (2,181), most chances accepted at third (6,361), and most assists by a third baseman (4,322).

Wilbur Wood, the White Sox left-handed relief specialist, set major league marks for most games pitched in a season (88), most games pitched in a season with none complete (88), and most games in a season for a relief pitcher (86).

Among other major league marks set this year were most strikeouts in a career (1,710) by Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, fewest .300 batsmen in a season (one-Boston's Carl Yastrzemski), most grand slams in one week (3-Detroit's Jim Northrup), and the lowest league batting average for the season (.230).

Cronin, Umpires Meet

BOSTON (AP) — The historic first meeting between the American League president and the Umpires Association was like a "live-in" as threats of a congressional probe were issued in Washington.

AL President Joe Cronin, who jolted the umpiring world by firing veterans Al Salerno and Bill Valentine last September, and representatives of the Umpires Association met for 2½ hours behind closed doors Thursday at league headquarters.

Neither Cronin nor the association representatives had much to say after the meeting. However, they went out of their way to indicate a sweetness and light atmosphere prevailed.

About the same time, Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., chairman of a House labor subcommittee, said in Washington that plans for early hearings on the firing of the two umpires have been expanded to include the labor problems of professional athletes generally.

"I have seen no evidence that American League officials are taking affirmative steps to give these two men a hearing or any other kind of reconsideration," said Thompson, who apparently was unaware of the Boston meeting.

Thompson, who said he was concerned because he is a baseball fan, hinted in a statement that he may not open his hearing if Cronin reinstates the umpires fired with a couple of weeks left in the season.

John Reynolds Jr. of Chicago, the Umpires Association attorney, and Cronin said in a joint statement that "the matter of Salerno-Valentine was discussed and further discussion will be held."

Cronin and Reynolds called the meeting "cordial" and agreed "considerable progress" was made. They also apparently agreed not to disclose the issues, saying only that "numerous matters" were discussed.

A Real Boxing End

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(NEA)—When not playing football, Harvard defensive end John Cramer is a boxer. In fact, he has won the school's intramural heavyweight title the last two years.

"The reason I box is that it helps my football," he says, adding: "The only person who is concerned about it is my mother. I guess she thought I'd be sipping tea in the afternoon."

A Real Boxing End

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(NEA)—When not playing football, Harvard defensive end John Cramer is a boxer. In fact, he has won the school's intramural heavyweight title the last two years.

"The reason I box is that it helps my football," he says, adding: "The only person who is concerned about it is my mother. I guess she thought I'd be sipping tea in the afternoon."

Rights Group, School Board Eye 'Summit'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The State Human Rights Commission and the State Board of Education are heading toward a "summit conference."

The two groups have been at odds with each other since Gov. Hulett Smith released the year-old HRC report on alleged racial discrimination at Bluefield State College.

The HRC report accused the Blue field administration of discrimination while the Board, which conducted its own investigation last fall, ruled out racial bias as a cause for the student disruption.

The thaw in the frigid relations began Nov. 5 when HRC chairman Rabbi Samuel Cooper wrote Board President W. Robert Abbot, offering the services of the HRC "for whatever insight or understanding we might contribute toward the alleviation of the tensions at Bluefield State College."

Abbot answered Cooper a month later, saying Dr. Leslie Martin, the board's secretary and administrator of higher education, has been "engaged in conversations" with HRC staff people.

This correspondence might well lead to a joint meeting of the two groups. Cooper described the situation as "somewhat like the preparation for a summit conference."

Rights Group, School Board Eye 'Summit'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The State Human Rights Commission and the State Board of Education are heading toward a "summit conference."

The two groups have been at odds with each other since Gov. Hulett Smith released the year-old HRC report on alleged racial discrimination at Bluefield State College.

The HRC report accused the Blue field administration of discrimination while the Board, which conducted its own investigation last fall, ruled out racial bias as a cause for the student disruption.

The thaw in the frigid relations began Nov. 5 when HRC chairman Rabbi Samuel Cooper wrote Board President W. Robert Abbot, offering the services of the HRC "for whatever insight or understanding we might contribute toward the alleviation of the tensions at Bluefield State College."

Abbot answered Cooper a month later, saying Dr. Leslie Martin, the board's secretary and administrator of higher education, has been "engaged in conversations" with HRC staff people.

This correspondence might well lead to a joint meeting of the two groups. Cooper described the situation as "somewhat like the preparation for a summit conference."

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMAL TEETH

QUESTION: How do animals clean their teeth?

* * * *

ANSWER: Teeth are very important to us. They are even more so to an animal, for animals use them in more ways than we do. Some animals kill their prey and tear it apart with their teeth. Others use them for gnawing hard nuts, roots and tree trunks. Still others use them to grub into the ground for plant food. If animals did not use their teeth in these active ways, they might need to have them cleaned, as our artist has humorously suggested. But the food eaten by animals, unlike that which we eat, is uncooked. It is hard, raw, tough. As the animals bite and chew such raw food, their teeth are being rubbed clean and polished. What better way to polish ones tusks than to grub with them in the ground, as an elephant does? Think of the beaver, biting into hard tree trunks, gnawing them into pieces to store away for winter food. Think of mice and squirrels biting through the shells of the hardest nuts. The animals get their food the hard way, but they clean their teeth nicely at the same time.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Make A Punch Bowl

Dear Heloise: I needed a punch bowl for a party recently and not having one, I made myself the darlingest bowl you ever saw. I'd like to tell you how because it's real easy.

Heloise

I just used my large-size mixing bowl!

Measure the height. Then measure around the top edge of the bowl. Cut a piece of aluminum foil twice as long as your bowl measures around, with the width more than twice the height. Cut another piece the same length, but have it only six inches wide.

Fold both pieces in half lengthwise, then into pleats about one-half inch deep.

Put a strip of double-coated tape (that's sticky on both sides) around the top outer edge of the bowl and stick the larger pleated piece of foil to the tape. Then with your hand, gently mold the foil to the shape of the bowl.

Now shape the narrow pleated piece into a circle as a base to set the bowl on. (Looks like your punch bowl is sitting on a pretty tray.)

Wrap a piece of gift wrap ribbon in a contrasting color (I used red) around the bowl and attach a bow or a pretty ornament.

There . . . you have a most attractive punch bowl — all it lacks is the punch!

MRS. M. W.

Gals, I made one of these and it was precious. And so quick and easy. I used green gift-wrap foil and attached red ribbon and bow. But just use your imagination and any colors you like.

Thanks a million, sweetiepie for your idea. Just think of the do-re-me (that's money) you're going to save the gals . . .

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When my knit suits look a little wrinkled and crumpled, I put them in the dryer with a slightly damp towel for 10 minutes.

Of course, I don't put but three or four pieces in at a time. And I use a cold dryer at first, then set the dial on warm.

MRS. B. M. LAZY.

DEAR HELOISE: One of the nicest innovations in our family life is our "together time."

Every night about 7:30 my five youngsters and I devote a half hour to doing fun things together.

Usually about this time of day mothers have "had it," but anticipating this instead of turmoil, the day isn't half bad.

And you'd be surprised how nicely the next day goes, thinking about the night before with your children.

Tha is what I call real communion.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A friend of mine pointed out that I had a real Heloise hint in the repair job I did on my plastic dinette chair cushion that was burned from a cigarette.

After cleaning away the burned portion I cut up embroidery floss in tiny pieces, the approximate color of the cushion, and mixed it with household cement. Then filled in the burned place until it was even. It turned out fine.

This was three years ago and it has held up. It's not perfect, but a "man on a galloping horse" would never notice the difference.

MRS. EDWARD VALENTINE.

DEAR HELOISE: I thought I would pass on something that was a great help to me last year during wet weather.

I used the hose on my hair dryer to dry out damp boots. It gets in the toes like nothing else and works equally as well on the big boys' hunting boots as the little ones' shoe boots.

By the time the children are dried out and ready to go out again, the boots are dry and warm.

Due To Shorter Shopping Season

Pennsylvanians Doing Christmas Buying Early

"For one thing said the manager of a Philadelphia suburban store, "There is a shorter shopping season, so the people are buying more in a shorter period."

From Pittsburgh came a report of a "more aggressive shopping pattern," with shoppers buying now due to the "seemingly disadvantage of fewer shopping days."

Across the state, store managers and spokesmen were in almost unanimous agreement that this year's late Thanksgiving gave a push to Christmas buying.

A Pittsburgh department store spokesman predicted this year's Christmas business will be about 7 per cent ahead of last year.

J. H. Williams, manager of S. H. Kress and Co. store in Christmas business so far is about 10 per cent better this year than last. He says he doesn't know why, except Thanksgiving was late, so there is more of a rush now to do Christmas shopping.

Al Sotoloff, merchandise manager for Silo, Inc., selling mainly appliances in nine Philadelphia-area discount stores, said business this season is about 20 to 25 per cent ahead.

The only discordant report came from a Harrisburg variety store. Reporting sales below last year, a spokesman said, "I guess the blame can be placed on the late Thanksgiving."

Even he, however, joined in an optimistic prediction of a "very good" year in 1969.

Pennsylvania shoppers apparently aren't worrying about prices. "If they have an itch, they'll scratch it," said the Harrisburg variety store manager.

"Most of our big ticket items are toys and these are selling better than they did last year," reports Williams. "Tight money never has an effect on toys, not at all. People do not cut back at Christmastime."

A Pittsburgh variety store reports the sale of three stero, television, radio combinations at $1,000 each, the first time such sets have been sold.

Toys, appliances, clothing also are selling well. A store in Jenkintown reports "the fashion predictions seem to be coming through — chains, belts, scarves and other accessories are big items" on the Christmas shoppers lists.

Some delays in deliveries are reported, but not enough to cause any complaints. The nearer Christmas gets, however, the slower deliveries are expected to become.

Christian Democrat Mariano Rumor, 53-year-old premier of Italy's 29th government since World War II, took the oath of office before President Giuseppe Saragat, a Socialist.

The revived center-left alliance slanted further left than any of the three similar coalitions with which Premier Aldo Moro governed Italy for five years, until last June.

Rumor, first bachelor premier in modern Italy, was expected to take his government before Parliament next week for a vote of confidence. Under the law he has 11 days, but he was expected to speed that up and get past the hurdle before Christmas.

Rumor seems assured of parliamentary approval. His coalition of Christian Democrats, Socialists and Republicans has a comfortable majority.

Formation of the Cabinet ended a political crisis that began when caretaker Premier Giovanni Leone resigned Nov. 19. But formation of the new government had no immediate effect on students demanding radical changes in the universities and workers seeking more money from the current economic boom.

Case Student Fatally Wounds Self With Gun

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Case Western Reserve University student fatally wounded himself with a pistol Thursday night in what police said apparently was an accident.

Two boys and a girl who witnessed the shooting said Pagnatto picked up a .22-caliber pistol from a shelf at the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house, jokingly put it to his head and pulled the trigger.

Historical Unit Meets

LISBON — The Columbiana County Historical Association met Wednesday night in Village Hall to conduct routine business and discuss two proposed dinner meetings in January and February. John C. Simonds of Leetonia RD, president, was in charge.

Candidates Reminded On Report's Deadline

The Columbiana County Election Board mailed a second reminder Thursday to seven candidates that they must file by Friday, Dec. 20, at 4 p.m. the detailed accounting of campaign expense receipts and expenditures required by state law.

The notarized reports are required of all persons who sought office in the Nov. 5 general election, whether or not they were successful, and from committees which supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Candidates who fail to file the reports within the time specified by law are barred from seeking office again for a minimum of five years.
